HAPPY EDWARD MARRIES HIS WALLY

FAIR Enough

Treat 'Em Rough—Tell 'Em Nothing

By Westbrook Pegler

NEW YORK.—From most accounts it seems that John L. Lewis is a fighting altruist whose beetling brows mask the compassion in his eyes and, for the sake of argument, that may be conceded. It doesn't impair the fact that he is, on his record, something of a dictator, nor the further fact that, with the growth of his power, he has escaped a corresponding responsibility.

He may believe in democracy, but, if so, he gives a curious expression to that belief, because he has shown little patience with minorities, and apparently sees no great wrong in beating the ears off working people who don't believe as he does and refuse to do as he orders.

Otherwise we might have heard some remonstance from him against those peaceful pickets who go to the line carrying ball bats, wagon spokes and gearshift levers with which to argue the constitutional rights of other Americans to work for a living. That is a rather important constitutional right, and one for which Mr. Lewis has contended with some vigor for many years, and it is no more lightly to be arrogated by a labor leader and a mob than by a soulless corporation and a force of subsidized deputy sheriffs.

LAW IS CARELESS

Still conceding that Mr. Lewis is an altruist, with heart full of pity for all that faction of the oppressed who accept his leadership, though for them only, the law is

NEW UNIONS ORGANIZED

Union activities swung into high gear here today.

Last night two new unions had their charters installed.

Saturday morning a Southern California convention of carpenter's union representatives will be staged in Santa Ana.

Monday night a big meeting will be held by the Orange County Central Labor council.

And in the meantime work on organizing retail clerks, truck drivers, helpers and warehouse men, agricultural workers and others went steadily ahead.

At a special meeting in the Labor Temple here last night a charter was installed by American Federation of Labor officials for the fruit and vegetable workers' union of the county. The union embraces citrus pickers, vegetable workers and other agricultural workers. Another union, organized several weeks ago, included citrus packing house and juice plant employes.

Another new union which had its charter installed last night was the Roofer's Local Union No. 1238, of 48 members, affiliated with the brotherhood of carpenters.

President Norris Stone of the Central Labor council, said 40 representatives of Southern California carpenter's unions will convene at the Labor Temple Saturday morning here.

Object of the convention is to establish a uniform wage scale for carpenters.

FIRE WARNING ISSUED BY RANGER

Scherman Tells Need Of Care to Prevent Forest Fires

Determined to prevent fires rather than put them out after they start, State Forester Joe Scherman today marshalled his forces for the annual summer war on carelessness.

As lookouts prepared for summer-long vigils on high peaks of the county, and fire suppression crews were recruited for stations at Orange, Trabuco, and Yorba Linda, Scherman asked cooperation of property owners, campers and motorists in holding down fire losses—most of them easily prevented.

Prosecution will be swift if state and county fire laws are neglected, Sherman said. Fires in hazardous areas, carelessly tossed cigarets and matches, and unauthorized brush burning will bring quick criminal action, he warned.

Closed Area

"No smoking" is the rule in the eastern part of the county, beyond a line extending from the east boundary of Irvine park, seven miles east of El Toro and San Juan Capistrano, he warned. Smoking anywhere in that area except in public camp grounds and places of habitation is taboo. Fireworks also are prohibited in regions where there is inflammable vegetation.

Burning of grass requires a permit from his office, Scherman said, and the quicker property owners clean up dead and dry grass near their homes and property, the safer they will be.

Precautions Urged

"There ought to be a 30-foot cleared area around any building," he said. "Other things ought to be checked over—piles of oily rags or paper in houses, garages and barns. Have an electrician check wiring at least once a year.

"If you have to build a small fire to burn papers or small amounts of trash, you don't need a permit, but see that it's 100 feet at least from any building and have an adult watch it every minute. Ranchers ought to see that the edges of their fields, if they border on roads, are cleared off, and that firebreaks are cut through any standing grain or grass so they can check fires and save some of their crop if a fire should start."

Work on Roads

More than 80 miles of fire roads have been worked over already during the past two weeks, Scherman said, with about 50 miles yet to be graded for quick access to dangerous areas. Telephone communication is being installed between Orange and Yorba Linda headquarters, with a telephone line already in use between the Trabuco station and Orange headheadquarters. The Gilman Peak lookout station also will communicate with Orange by way of Yorba Linda.

"It's lots better to prevent fires than try to put them out," Scherman warned. "But if you do have a fire, call Orange 515 if you are in an unincorporated area, take it easy, and tell us just where to come and what kind of fire it is. Then we'll do our best."

Amelia Arrives At Paramaribo

PARAMARIBO, Dutch Guiana. (AP)—Amelia Earhart landed here today at 12:50 a. m. on the third leg of her round-the-world flight. The American woman flier set her heavy plane safely down after a flight of six hours and two minutes from Caripito, Venezuela. She was expected to stay here until some time tomorrow.

Germany Sends Subs to Spain to Prepare for Any Eventuality

BILBAO, Spain, (AP)—It was announced tonight that Spanish insurgent radio stations at Salamanca and Vitoria reported the death of General Emilo Mola, insurgent commander of the Bilbao front, in an airplane crash.

The announcement said Mola, one of Generalissimo Francisco Franco's chief aides, had been reconnoitering in a plane along the Bay of Biscay front when the plane fell.

Two pilots and two staff officers also were killed in the accident, the account stated.

GERMANY RUSHING U-BOATS TO SPAIN

(By The Associated Press)

Germany was authoritatively reported today to have rushed U-boats to Spanish waters as a "preparedness measure."

An official German agency report said "parts of the third torpedo boat flotilla" left for the troubled area.

Chancellor Hitler was described as determined to prepare for any eventuality no matter how the international non-intervention committee acts on his demand for "adequate" protection of the Reich's warships.

Three-Point Program

Great Britain today laid a three-point program before France, Italy and Germany to restore the broken naval ring around Spain.

She suggested:

1—That safety zones for neutral ships be established in Spanish waters.

2—That the Spanish government and the insurgent administration be asked to guarantee protection of warships of the patrolling powers.

3—That Spain, France, Italy and Germany consult immediately if a warship of any of them is attacked.

POISON DEATH IS BLOCKED

The trail of a car stolen in Los Angeles Tuesday night ended today at a bed in the county hospital, where William Fredericks, 29, Orange, lay suffering from the effects of what physicians said was a violent poison.

Orange police, waiting outside Fredericks' apartment at 173 South Lemon street yesterday afternoon, broke in when they heard a fit of coughing. They rushed Fredericks to the hospital, where his condition was described as fair.

"I just couldn't take it," police quoted a note which they said was found in the room. "Sure I told you lie after lie, but it had to be done. I'm insane. Always, Bill." The note was not addressed.

Police had stopped Fredericks yesterday morning on South Main street in Orange for speeding. A check of the registration later revealed the car he was driving had been stolen, and officers went to wait at the apartment for Fredericks, discovering him after he assertedly swallowed the pills.

Physicians estimated he had swallowed 30 pills. Between five and 15 would certainly have killed him, they said, but an overdose acts almost as an antidote. He may recover.

ROYAL HONEYMOONERS: DUKE AND DUCHESS OF WINDSOR

DUCHESS OF WINDSOR — ONCE WALLIS WARFIELD

DUKE OF WINDSOR — ONCE KING EDWARD VIII

VICAR'S OFFICIATING AT WEDDING STIRS BRITISH

Official Britain Remains Silent About Wedding

LONDON. (AP)—Britain's government, which would not have Wallis Warfield as the empire's queen, maintained official silence today on the American-born woman's marriage to former King Edward VIII at Monts, France.

"Has the government already decided to send or are they considering sending a message of congratulations to Windsor on his wedding," demanded the outspoken Laborite, J. McGovern, in commons.

Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain made no answer.

CHURCHMEN HORRIFIED

But Superiors Plan No Disciplinary Move Against Jardine

LONDON. (AP)—A poor man's parson who chose to marry his former king and Wallis Warfield, no matter what the bishops thought, stirred a tempest in the Anglican church today and even provoked the question:

"Will he go to work for Windsor now?"

Workaday England itself was divided into those who wanted to forgive and those who merely wanted to forget.

Many churchmen throughout the land were horrified because the Anglican vicar of Darlington, the Rev. R. Anderson Jardine, had defied his superiors to bless the union.

But in other quarters the eleventh-hour disclosure that "the poor man's parson" would conduct the religious ceremony today at Chateau de Cande in France, caused lively satisfaction.

The man in the street was deeply stirred to hear that the democratic former monarch would, after all, be married within the church of which he once was titular head, despite his post-abdication "isolation" by both the Church of England and the British government.

It Was Just Another Day for Ernest Simpson

LONDON. (AP)—The wedding day of Wallis Warfield and the Duke of Windsor was just another day at the office for Ernest Aldrich Simpson, the new duchess' second husband.

While his former wife and his former king were being married at Monts, France, Simpson sat lunching at one of London's famous chop houses with an old friend.

Miss Bennett was given custody of their 3-year-old daughter, Melinda. The couple was married in 1932.

URGE ELECTION OF OFFICERS

Folks at Huntington Beach want to elect their city attorney, city judge and chief of police. Petitions being circulated today ask that these offices be removed from the appointive list and placed on the ballot.

City Clerk Charles R. Furr today received two of the petitions. If certified, the petitions will force the city council either to enact an ordinance providing for election or to call a vote on the proposition.

Each petition averaged about 350 names. One concerned the city attorney and city judge offices while the other would make the police chief change.

Action must be taken by the council within 10 days after receipt of the petition, it was reported. The three changes would alter the new city charter recently adopted by voters in Huntington Beach.

At present Assemblyman Thomas Kuchel is city attorney, Chris P. Pann is judge and H. L. Grant is police chief.

HOTEL FIRE IS FATAL FOR TWO

SAN LUIS OBISPO. (AP)—Two persons were burned to death when fire destroyed the old wooden hotel at Cambria today.

The victims were Mrs. Louis Webb, 60, owner of the hotel, and Bill Rilley, 30, a former employe on the Hearst ranch.

When the fire broke out Mrs. Webb and Rilley fled with seven guests. They returned to see whether all had escaped, and were trapped. The fire was believed to have started from a cigaret.

EX-KING AND U. S. WOMAN TAKE VOWS

Duke, With Loud Voice, Says 'I Will'; Double Ceremony Is Held

By JOHN LLOYD

CHATEAU DE CANDE MONTS, France, (AP)—The radiant Duke of Windsor took Wallis Warfield as his bride and duchess today in two serene and dignified marriage ceremonies.

Just 25 weeks ago today he gave up his crown of England and empire because she could not be his queen.

"I will," the Duke, supremely happy, answered in a firm, loud voice to the Anglican poor man's parson who gave him the unsanctioned blessing of the Church of England.

Bride Not Kissed

As far as I could see neither the Duke nor anyone else kissed the bride.

The Duke raised his voice so high in his eagerness to take the "woman I love" as his wife that he startled the 34 guests in the flower-banked music room of this old chateau.

After him, his blue-eyed lady answered "I will." Her voice was just as firm as Edward's, but more hushed.

Parson's Challenge

There was silence when the parson challenged:

"If any man can show any just cause why they may not lawfully be joined together, let him now speak or else hereafter forever hold his peace."

The religious service ended at 12:14 p. m. after the wedding party had come in from highballs and cocktails on the terrace.

JOBS ASSURED WPA GROUP

Orange county's PWA projects will continue through the next fiscal year.

Word to this effect was received by Dan Mulherron, chief of the operation division of WPA in Orange county, yesterday afternoon from Ralph G. Wadsworth, assistant state director.

Wadsworth was in Orange county yesterday, checking on the various projects now in operation. He told Mulherron the WPA work would continue next year in a program very similar to the one now in operation.

2000 Affected

This was the first official word received by the local WPA officials on the status of the program for next year, and it gave assurance to more than 2000 Orange county families that they would not be stricken from the work relief rolls.

Wadsworth expressed himself as being well pleased with the type of WPA projects in operation here, and the methods of administration used on the projects.

There are now 2202 persons on the WPA rolls in the county, as compared with 2229 at this time last year.

Eighty-four Projects

Orange county now has a total of 84 projects in operation, as compared with 70 projects at this time last year

Mulherron said the WPA officials are allowing requisitions for material money now which comes out of July funds, showing that the program will continue on about the same basis as it is now.

A drop of 100 cases in the past week was reported by Mulherron. Many WPA workers are finding work in private fields.

'Coffee John' Mitchell Has Rival in 'Coca-Cola' Finley

"Coffee John" Mitchell isn't the only supervisor who is opposed to mid-morning coffee for courthouse employes.

Supervisor Steele Finley of Santa Ana disclosed today that he has let it be known at the welfare department, over which he is committeeman, that employes are supposed to have their breakfast before they come to work.

"If they can't work four hours from 8 a. m. to noon without having to go out for coffee, it shows they either do not have the right attitude toward their work or they have lost their control over habits," Finley said.

Finley said he realized there were sometimes slack spells during the morning when certain employes had nothing to do, but that it "looked bad" to have them wandering over town after coffee or "cokes."

Mitchell's original statement that while he was opposed to requiring any employe to work overtime, he intended to see that all stayed on the job during working hours instead of having coffee, stirred up the courthouse even more than the recent salary questionnaires.

Finley, who doesn't smoke himself and doesn't admire the habit in women, said he would not consider smoking grounds for dismissal, but that he might consider it an obstacle if he is called upon to recommend someone for advancement.

Judge to Order Smith Typewriter

Superior Judge G. K. Scovel was expected to issue a peremptory writ this afternoon directing Purchasing Agent Eugene Fenelon to supply County Auditor W. T. Lambert with an L. C. Smith typewriter.

WELL, I'LL TELL YOU—

BY BOB BURNS

City people imagine it would be dull livin' in a small town because there are so few people there. They don't realize that in a town of 5000 everybody knows each other while a city man is lucky if he actually knows 250 people. I never did like to live in a city because there are so many strangers there.

A city man stopped off in Van Buren one time and got into a conversation with my Cousin Pernell. The city man says "I sure would hate to live in a town like this." Pernell says "So would I." The city man says "Well, don't you live here?" and Pernell says "No, I live eight miles back in the hills."

Three Square Meals A Day!

The good old American custom is three square meals a day. That doesn't make allowance for six meals a day like they have in some parts of Europe or for the piece of toast and pineapple every 24 hours like on the Hollywood diet. If you absorb three squares a day, you'll have plenty of horsepower for your daily dozen. Naturally it is up to Mrs. Housewife to arrange these three squares, and we take pleasure in recommending the food advertising in The Journal as the biggest and handiest guide to market shopping in all Orange county. Note the market advertising in today's Journal—that fast growing newspaper.

MORE ABOUT DUKE, WALLY

their way to their "haunted" honeymoon castle of Wasserleonburg, near Noetsch, Austria, with 226 pieces of luggage.

The American-born Duchess of Windsor, a member of the British royal family although by royal decree she must not style herself "her royal highness," was clad in light "Wallis blue"—her husband's favorite shade—from head to foot.

Wears Sapphires

Her blue costume was complemented by sparkling sapphire bracelets and earrings. From her small straw hat stemmed blue and pink feathers.

After the religious ceremony the duke and duchess led their guests back to the terrace. There, a buffet wedding breakfast had been spread.

Edward Thanks All

Edward made a short speech, thanking "all of you people for coming on this occasion so important for us."

The breakfast was a friendly, informal gathering of those who had stayed by the former king's side after the December crisis in which he left his throne.

The bridal couple disappeared for a brief time and then returned to their company.

The Duchess had changed to another costume and the duke had doffed his cutaway for a blue serge suit.

Short Civil Ceremony

Just five minutes after Monts' country physician-mayor began the French legal ceremony in the chateau salon, Wallis Warfield was the Duchess of Windsor, wed to the man who laid aside a crown to share that moment with her. That was 11:47 a. m.

The next few minutes were spent in signing civil documents to comply with the French law.

I watched Dr. Mercier, bedecked in his red, white and blue sash of office, self-consciously hand the papers to the Monts town crier, who stuck them in an old leather case and bicycled feverishly back to the town hall.

Mayor Makes Speech

"By one of those whims of destiny," the mayor told the bridal couple, "it is under the blue sky and among the flowers of the garden of France, in the laughing valley of the Indre, that the most moving of all idyls has just unfolded itself . . .

"The illustrious wedding which innumerable hearts will celebrate in secret today had for its celebrant the mayor of a little town of Touraine. . .

"In saluting in its name a prince who was the well-beloved sovereign of a friendly people, and she whom his highness has chosen from a noble country to which we are attached with the same precious bonds—greatness and glory—permit him who has just received the mutual consent uniting your destinies to give you . . . the most sincere wishes for your happiness. . . ."

Then Church Service

When the couple re-entered the turretted chateau from the terrace during the cocktail interim between services they went separately to the music room, where I was seated with the other guests.

The Rev. Mr. Jardine, his glasses on his nose, stood beside the hastily improvised altar—made up of borrowings from neighborhood churches—wearing his white surplice and waiting to read the service.

He performed the service without the authority of the church, which does not like remarriage after divorce. He did it, he said, on the authority of his conscience alone.

Edward, accompanied by his best man, Maj. Edward Dudley Metcalfe, came up the corridor from the dining-room past where we guests were assembled.

"Here Comes the Bride"

He stood before the altar, in the center of which stood a two-foot golden cross.

A moment later, Herman L. Rogers, steadfast American friend of the couple, escorted in the bride.

Soft notes came from the organ as Marcel Dupre played a wedding prelude. It made a peaceful setting of the scene.

The Rev. M. Jardine immediately began reading the marriage ceremony. He took it from the Church of England's old book of common prayer.

He Says 'I Will'

Calling the duke by all his given names the vicar asked:

" . . . Edward Albert Christian George Andrew Patrick David" . . . "wilt thou love her, comfort her, honor her and keep her? . . ."

"I will," the duke answered loudly.

The minister then asked the duchess, calling her "Bessie Wallis," if she would "obey, serve, love and honor."

The bride, repeating after the parson, answered in steady, hushed voice:

" . . . and to obey until death do us part."

Slips on Ring

Windsor, also following the minister's reading, took the wedding ring of Welsh gold from the Rev. Mr. Jardine and slipped it on his bride's finger.

"With this ring I thee wed," Edward said, " . . . and with all my worldly goods I thee endow . . ."

The vicar called upon the assemblage to pray, asking that God give his blessing "to this man and to this woman."

"May they remain in perfect love and peace together," the preacher added in prayer.

"Those whom God has joined together let no man put asunder . . . I pronounce that they be man and wife together, in the name of the Father, and of the Son and of the Holy Ghost. Amen."

It was exactly 12:14 p. m. when Edward and Wallis arose, man and wife, from the white satin cushion on which they had knelt to receive the church's unwilling blessing.

Now the guests arose and headed for the long table that was crowded with trays of lobster, baked ham, pastries and other delicacies for the buffet wedding breakfast.

In the center of the table, surmounting the whole array, was a great six-story wedding cake trimmed with white frosted forget-me--nots.

Champagne was passed to all the guests, and Major Metcalfe proposed a toast to the happiness of the newly-married couple.

Duke Self-conscious

The bridegroom, in bubbling spirits all morning long, was as self-conscious as a boy at graduation when his friends called upon him to speak.

He shifted first to one foot and then to the other, abashed and at a loss for words.

He just thanked his guests for coming.

I, one of the few newspaper men permitted to witness the ceremony, was in a position to describe the marriage exactly as it took place.

Later I talked to the bride and bridegroom, and saw at first hand their exuberant happiness.

15 See Civil Rites

Leaving our silk hats in the ante-room, we were escorted by Rogers into the large salon where the civil ceremony was performed entirely in French and before only 15 persons—including the duke and duchess.

It was 10 minutes before the duke, the first of the bridal couple to arrive, came into the room.

Dr. Mercier, smiling, affable and apparently a trifle uncomfortable in his broad sash of office with gold tassels, already was there.

Everyone wore formal morning attire. The Duke of Windsor was neatly attired in a black morning coat, striped trousers, wing collar and a black and white checked cravat. He wore a white carnation in his buttonhole.

Seating Arrangement

Prefect Vernet of the department of Indre et Loire was present at the civil service with W. C. Graham, British consul at Nantes, and M. Bernard, a special secret service official.

We all were introduced and chatted briefly until Rogers assigned us chairs.

Placed directly before a long table at the east end of the room were four chairs where the bride, the bridegroom, Rogers and Metcalfe sat.

About 12 feet behind them were five other chairs, where Mrs. Rogers, Mrs. D. Buchanan Merryman, the duchess' "Aunt Bessie," Bertrand, Vernet and Graham sat. Our newspapermen's chairs were slightly to one side.

In Rich Setting

The table was covered with a dark yellow cloth. At both ends were big vases with pink and white peonies.

The salon in the centuries-old castle provided a rich setting. The walls were covered with dark red cloth. On them hung three paintings of horses and a big oil of the Resurrection. On the other table was a bunch of flowers bound by a ribbon stamped with a chain of American flags.

Over the big stone fireplace, on the south side of the room—which is about 40 feet by 20 feet—stood another huge bouquet of peonies. Under a window at the opposite end a third table was banked with vases of mixed red, blue, yellow and white flowers. One of its bouquets was a large bunch of lilies.

Floor Carpeted

The carpeting of red, green and blue covered the whole floor in a neat, small pattern.

Through the window we could see out over the spacious, lush gardens that stretch down a beautiful embankment to the shore of a small lake.

Mrs. Rogers wore an ensemble consisting of a printed gown and a long, navy blue crepe coat topped with a large straw hat of navy blue. "Aunt Bessie" wore a printed dress and a blue felt hat. Each had a lavender orchid at the waist.

The duke walked into the room alone at 11:41 a. m.

Duke Smiles Happily

He was smiling happily and looking well rested as he circled among his guests, shaking hands with all of them.

In the moment before his bride joined him Edward spent most of his time chatting with Graham. He seemed much interested when the consul, who once held a post in Ecuador, mentioned it.

"Oh, yes," the duke said, "I know South America very well. I have never been in Ecuador, but I have been in La Paz (Bolivia). That's terribly high, too, you know."

Mrs. Warfield came in then, wearing her gown of "Wallis blue."

The duchess' wedding dress was cut on almost severely simple lines. It came up high in front. At her neck she wore a glittering sapphire brooch. From her left wrist sparkled a sapphire bracelet. Her earrings matched the bejeweled ensemble.

"Obliged to Obey"

Her hat, shoes and gloves were of the same shade of blue as her dress. Her hat was of a toque style with pink and blue feathers in front and topped by a "halo" of blue tulle.

Dr. Mercier, proceeding immediately with the ceremony, informed the new duchess she was obliged to obey her husband and follow him wherever he might go. He told the duke he must provide for all his wife's needs.

When the mayor asked Windsor if he accepted Mrs. Warfield as his wife, the bridegroom nodded slightly and answered:

"Oui."

During the civil ceremony Edward kept his hands behind his back, alternately clasping and unclasping his fingers.

Mrs. Warfield gave her residence as Cannes.

Duke Strokes Chin

Edward reflectively stroked his chin while his wife signed the marriage register and the British consular record.

I went to the telephone to flash the message to the chateau gate announcing that a civil ceremony had made Edward of Windsor and Wallis Warfield man and wife. More than a hundred newspapermen waited there for the word.

Then I rejoined the guests already seated in the white-walled music room where Dupre was playing softly on the chateau's magnificent organ.

The room where the religious ceremony was held was decorated with white peonies and lilies placed in vases in profusion along the walls.

Chest Used as Altar

The altar was made of an old oaken chest, part of the chateau's furnishings.

It had been erected in an alcove opening on the room. At the ends of the altar were single, tall, yellow tapers and in the middle the golden cross.

Beside the altar were two large candelabras each containing 62 candles. At the back of the room a large mirror—with one white candle at each side—covered most of the wall.

A big, brass chandelier was suspended from the center of the ceiling. Yellow silken curtains covered the windows.

No Delay in Service

The parson entered the room just two minutes after noon. He stood for a moment with his head bowed before the altar while the organ music played and a bright sun flooded the improvised chapel with brilliant light.

A minute later Edward came in with Metcalfe and in another minute the Duchess of Windsor entered on the arm of Rogers.

The service started without delay:

"We are come together here in the sight of God and this congregation to join this man and woman," the Rev. Mr. Jardine started reading from his red-covered prayer book while the couple stood before him.

Newlyweds Photographed

After the religious services the bridal couple went to the steps of the chateau to be photographed, alone and then with their witnesses.

By 2:15 p. m., the guests had started leaving. The Baron and Baroness Eugene de Rothschild, who were the last to arrive, were the first to leave. They were followed shortly by Prefect Vernet.

Dr. Mercier, beaming as he reached the outer gate, stopped to say, "the wedding was a very impressive ceremony." He did not say whether he meant his own or the Rev. Mr. Jardine's.

'Very Touching'

The smiling Mme. Mercier said only, "it was very touching."

After taking his wife home, the mayor returned to the chateau. He stayed only a few moments. Apparently he had forgotten some of the legal papers to which the erstwhile Mrs. Warfield had affixed the signature, "Duchess of Windsor."

Some of the guests left carrying their slices of the towering wedding cake on which the chateau's chefs had lavished a week of attention. All who have families were given extra slices for their children.

The duke told me he had had a "delightful stay" at Cande and informed me of the two statements he was to issue later in the day, "one to the press and one to the public."

Proves Genial Host

The duke, married man now at 43, played the happy role of genial host. After the double ceremony he summoned some of the newspapermen who had stayed with him in his months of travel "in exile."

After a spokesman for them congratulated the newlyweds, Windsor answered:

"Thank you very much indeed for your good wishes. I was very sorry I could not have you all to the wedding, but there was not room."

Duchess Greets All

The duchess, standing happily beside her third husband, shook hands as each of the correspondents was presented.

The bridegroom mingled among all his guests, passing informally from one group to another, handshaking with all.

Those he suspected of shyness he escorted personally to the table piled high with lobster and chicken-a-la-king, urging them to eat heartily.

"Why didn't you take something to eat?" he asked. "You know it's there to eat, not just to look at."

NEW ROADS

REGINA, Sask. (American wire)—As a part of a program to open up Saskatchewan's north country to mining exploration, two new roads and an $80,000 rock dam will be built in Saskatchewan this year with funds provided by the Federal Department of Mines, officials have announced.

Typewriters Must Be Getting in Fenelon's Hair

With the green grass growing by leaps and bounds, George Benedict, courthouse gardener, decided today he needed a new lawnmower.

So he told Purchasing Agent Eugene Felenon, center of the L. C. Smith typewriter controversy. He has refused to buy an L. C. Smith, in carrying out the supervisors' buying policy.

"All right," said Fenelon, I'll get you one, but it will have to be either a Remington or an Underwood."

MORE ABOUT CHURCH

Jardine were volunteered "for conscience sake" and without the approval by the Bishop of Fulham, who has jurisdiction on Anglican church affairs in France.

The poor man's parson, however, apparently escaped disciplinary action today from the Church of England.

No ecclesiastical measures will be taken against the Rev. Mr. Jardine, it was indicated by the Bishop of Fulham.

The middle-aged vicar gave his former king a religious marriage blessing, performed the Church of England ceremony—on his own authority.

The bishop after a conference with the Archbishop of Canterbury, announced that the vicar of the Darlington St. Paul's church had acted without the former's "consent or even his knowledge."

In Darlington, the Rev. Mr. Jardine's parishioners gazed curiously at his shuttered stone vicarage. Some recalled that their pastor recently had talked of leaving the parish for another appointment and wondered if this latest development meant he might become the Duke of Windsor's private chaplain.

The London News Chronicle bitterly attacked what it styled a "narrow minority" in the church, which failed to recognize Windsor's claim to a church ceremony. The paper said it would provoke only swmpathy for the duke "and anything but sympathy with leaders of organized religion in this country."

The Express pleaded for "Christian charity" for Windsor and his bride, adding "they have already endured much and perhaps their anxieties are not at an end."

Other newspapers gave the wedding news a big display, but steered clear of the controversy revolving about the vicar.

The grim walls of Lambeth palace, the Archbishop of Canterbury's residence, held the secret of any disciplinary action which might ensue against the vicar of Darlington.

Anglican bishops, while holding his decision was "irregular," seemed powerless actually to prevent him from conducting the ceremony.

The exact attitude of the Church of England on remarriage of divorcees is obscure. But there is general objection to the principle.

One church source said in reference to today's double civil-religious ceremony: "No two people can be married twice. The service he (Jardine) will conduct will be a courtesy ceremony."

Others held that objections by Anglican bishops meant the Rev. Mr. Jardine might attend the wedding only in a private capacity, and did not have the right to bestow the church's blessing.

CREW ESCAPES BURNING SHIP

MANILA, P. I. (AP)—Fire drove the entire crew from the burning German motorship Oliva for the second time tonight as rain storms balked three airplanes in attempts to aid five men seriously injured fighting the flames.

Offices of the Hamburg American line here reported the crew of 52 was taken off by the German steamer Friderun. Earlier the crew had taken to lifeboats but returned in attempt to control the fire when rail squalls broke out.

The same rain kept two United States army amphibian planes from finding the German motorship, although they circled over the ship's position 120 miles southwest of Manila, until their fuel began to dwindle.

CHERRY TAKES TALK PRIZE

David Cherry won first place for his speech, "America First," given last night before members of Smedley chapter, Toastmaster's International.

In his talk Cherry outlined the possible ways in which America could lead the world along the path of progress.

Other talks were given by Sam Long, Ernest Byrne, Phil Crittenden, Robert Korff and H. O. Ensign.

J. Lee Woods was toastmaster, with Harry House as general critic and James Anderson as dictionary critic.

Visitors were Dr. C. J. Ruley, E. J. Smith and Robert Gilbert.

Woman Arrested Following Fight

A fight between two women in Santa Ana last week resulted today in the arrest of Mrs. Daniel Hill of Huntington Beach on charges of assault and battery and disturbing the peace.

Mrs. Hill was arrested yesterday at her home by Deputy Sheriff R. E. Steinberger and Matron Nona Y. Lacy. Her husband posted $100 bail. Mrs. Hill is to appear before Justice Kenneth Morrison June 7.

The complaint was signed by Mrs. Ruth Handley of Santa Ana, who claims Mrs. Hill struck her and used abusive language "in the presence of women and children."

F.D.R. Fights for Civil Service

WASHINGTON. (AP)—President Roosevelt, protesting to congress today against increasing exemptions from the civil service in proposed legislation, urged the "placing of all but policy-forming positions under the merit system."

The President, writing to Vice President Garner and Speaker Bankhead, enclosed a letter from the civil service commission saying more than 70 bills had been introduced this session proposing complete exemption from civil service and that three or four had been passed.

Officer Hurt in Arresting Woman

Police Officer W. E. B. Sherwood knows today what a tough job it is to arrest a woman. He has a bruise on his thigh to remember it by.

Sherwood, Officer Ralph Pantuso and Police Matron Dorothy Russick had a battle royal on their hands yesterday afternoon. They said a woman in an East Fourth street pool hall wouldn't leave. They said she kicked, rolled on the floor and kicked Sherwood. She was carried out, still kicking, they reported.

Booked at the county jail on a common drunk charge, she gave her name as Mrs. Lela Simmons, 40, 2030 North Main street.

Fullerton Ebell To Meet Friday

FULLERTON.—Mrs. Albert Launer, program chairman for the Fullerton Ebell club, has planned a musical program for the final meeting of the club year, to be held Friday, at 2 p. m., at the clubhouse.

Installation of officers will be held. Mrs. O. M. Thompson is hostess chairman for the day.

'LITTLE TVA'S' PROPOSED

WASHINGTON. (AP)—President Roosevelt asked congress today to set up seven "regional authorities" to administer federal power projects and to plan safeguards against floods, droughts and dust storms.

A comprehensive program for the seven "little TVA'S" was outlined in a special message.

It said the hydro-electric projects which have been or may be undertaken were part of a "multiple purpose watershed development" designed not only to guard against nature's calamities but to prevent their occurrence.

"The water-power resources of the nation must be protected from private monopoly and used for the benefit of the people," the President said in what was expected to be his last major legislative recommendation for this session.

Bills were ready for introduction in both houses to carry out his suggestions.

The seven regional authorities or agencies would plan and in some cases administered projects in the following areas:

1. Atlantic seaboard.
2. Great Lakes and Ohio Valley.
3. Tennessee and Cumberland rivers' drainage basin.
4. Missouri and Red River of the north drainage basins.
5. Arkansas, Red and Rio Grande drainage basins.
6. Colorado and rivers flowing into the Pacific south of the California-Oregon line.
7. Columbia river basin.

NORTHERN CITIES MAKE PEACE MOVE IN SEWER REPAIR FIGHT

PROPOSAL IS SENT TODAY TO S. A.

Ask General Meeting Of Outfall Cities And Districts

Northern Orange county cities were to place their counter-proposal on repair of the outfall sewer in the hands of Mayor Fred C. Rowland of Santa Ana today.

Based on the report of Harry Jenks, Berkeley sanitary engineer, the proposal is for a line of 39-inch vitrified clay pipe instead of the 45-inch reinforced concrete line which Santa Ana has demanded. The section under consideration runs from southwest of Santa Ana to the ocean.

As a possible means of reaching an agreement and compromise, the northern cities' letter today requested the city council here to call a meeting of the entire membership of all city councils and sanitary boards owning the sewer.

Jenks has suggested that the line be of vitrified clay pipe with the exception of a 1400-foot length of corrugated iron pipe, lined with asphalt and asbestos, through a marshy region near the beach.

His estimate states that a line of that size will be adequate to handle sewage from the Orange county communities. Clyde C. Kennedy, hired separately by the city of Santa Ana as a consulting engineer, based his plans on an estimate that a 45-inch line will be required.

To Show Electric Cooking Units

A large traveling exhibit of electric equipment for restaurant cooking will be in Santa Ana Tuesday to Friday, June 8 to 11, inclusive, according to R. E. Bacon, division manager for the Southern California Edison company, under whose auspices it is being shown.

A comprehensive array of latest type electric equipment for commercial cooking will be shown, including high speed electric ranges, electric bakery ovens, broilers, deep fry kettles, toasters, waffle bakers, stock kettles and coffee makers. A new food warming table will be a special feature of the exhibit.

"This unique traveling exhibit has been arranged by the Edison company to meet the increasing interest in modern electric equipment," Bacon said. "It has attracted great attention wherever it has been shown, and restaurant men in this area are invited to visit it during its stay here."

careless and dangerous in failing to take precautions against reckless conduct on his part or by some successor come to equal power might have less noble motives.

Mere professions of altruism and the light in an individual's eyes are not sufficient guarantee against the damage that can be wrought by a man with so much might, and, anyway, if labor is to receive protection under the laws labor should be compelled to assume responsibility for its acts and for the fulfillment of formal contracts.

As matters stand, a contract with a labor union is worth no more than the word of the leaders who sign it, and labor leaders, on the average, are no better than the employers with whom they have dealings.

* * *

LEADERS DENOUNCED

In some cases, where practical labor leaders have maintained their contracts by calling off or even breaking outlaw strikes called in violation of signed agreements, they have been denounced as stooges for the employers. In this situation, those who resent fulfillment of the contracts take a stand much the same as that of Mussolini and Hitler, the two great, glib, treaty-breakers of the world, who simply tear up an agreement whenever it interferes with their purposes, and invite the world to sue them.

It is not uncommon in labor troubles for one or more unions to violate or sabotage signed contracts to compel an employer to sign another with allied union, although what earthly good any contract can be, under such conditions, nobody has yet discovered.

The fact is that the labor leader very often is a dictator maintaining his power by union politics at the expense of democratic procedure, a peculiarity which places the rank and file in the position of the Italian or German citizen who just rocks along submitting to discipline. If they dissent they may be denounced as traitors to labor, and if they get too fresh they may be slugged and lose their right to work at all.

* * *

STRESS LOYALTY

I do not contend that this condition is general, although it is by no means rare, but the fact that it is inherent in the present arrangement cannot be denied or justified on any grounds but those of something called loyalty. Again, the great dictators used the same argument. Loyalty is what they say it is.

Union finances are big business involving enormous totals in legitimate dues and assessments as well as tributes levied by the leaders on American citizens, for permission to work at their occupation. These accounts now are matters of public interest, but though employers must open their books to the government, and may be punished for certain activities revealed by their accounts, the labor leader may follow a policy of treat 'em rough and tell 'em nothing, and is immune to rebuke for anything short of personal murder, if that.

A contract is no contract unless it is binding on both sides, and it can't be binding on labor until labor, like every other party to an agreement, stands to lose something for violation.

FILM STRIKE ULTIMATUM ISSUED

HOLLYWOOD. (AP) — Strike leaders of the Federated Motion Picture Crafts were warned today by International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employes executives to "join our ranks or stand repudiated by your international unions."

George E. Browne, president of I. A. T. S. E. said he had given the ranks of the F. M. P. C. until late today to repudiate the strike leadership, to retract charges of "company union" as directed against the I. A. T. S. E., and to disassociate themselves entirely from the F. M. P. C.

"This is the final warning," Browne said. "We represent 10,000 workers in the motion picture industry. The International Brotherhood of Painters has approved the strike settlement under which painters affiliated with the F. M. P. C. were to come into our ranks and share in the studio-union agreement calling for a closed shop and a 10 per cent wage increase.

"Those who do not accept this last offer will be branded as outlaws from their union and will be repudiated."

Browne said he had made known his demands to Joe Clarke, international vice-president of the painters' union; W. B. Culen, chairman of the F. M. P. C. strike committee; Verne Murdock, executive secretary of the makeup artists and secretary-treasurer of the F. M. P. C.; Bert Hadley, president of the makeup artists; and Helen Hunt, president of the hairdressers' association.

F. M. P. C. leaders were to meet this afternoon to discuss Browne's ultimatum.

SURPLUS AIDS CITY FUNDS

The city of Orange will close its fiscal year in a good financial condition, it was announced at last night's meeting of the council, although several departments would have closed their books in the "red" if it were not for the surplus in the city water fund.

A total deficiency of $22,875.08 was reported by City Clerk T. H. Elijah, with the departments having deficiencies as follows: street, $7,110.06; park, $9293; sewer, $6529.99. It was revealed however that an accumulated surplus from sewer and street bonds, now paid off, amounting to $2883.29, is available, so this fund was transferred to the general fund, and thence to the indebted departments.

However, it was necessary to also transfer $13,997.47 from the water fund to the general fund to supply the balance of the deficiency.

An ordinance was passed its first reading, making a flat rate of 10 cents the penalty for water bills paid after the tenth of the month until the fifteenth, instead of five cents a day as formerly. Bills not paid before the sixteenth, will be delinquent.

SCOUT CIRCUS IS PLANNED

Saturday's Boy Scout field day is in preparation for a huge scout circus to be staged next fall, it was revealed today by Harrison White, Orange county Scout executive.

The field day, to be held at Santa Ana High school next Saturday, will include nine events for the scouts. Troops from all of Orange county are expected to be present.

Competition will be by troops instead of individual scouts, White pointed out. There will be contests and prizes for personal inspection, tent pitching, water boiling, first aid, fun event, flapjack making, pyramid building, a centipede race and a tug-of-war.

Police Reports

A bicycle, stolen from Richard Thompson, 730 North Grand street, was found abandoned last night at the municipal bowl.

Charles Clark, Walnut and Main streets, asked Officers F. L. Grouard and L. C. Rogers to help him find a lost purse containing $150 last night. The search was unsuccessful.

Police today were checking the registration of a car which assertedly crashed into an auto parked in front of the city hall early this morning. The damaged automobile is owned by E. C. Heard.

RETURN FROM TRIP

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur May and children, Irma Jean and Douglas, of 730 South Birch street returned home Tuesday night from a five-day motor trip to Boulder dam, Zion National park and Grand canyon, returning by way of Cameron, Ariz., where they visited the Moenkopi Indian reservation, and Jerome, the town built on the side of a mountain. They encountered a snowstorm on the north rim of Grand canyon, and while in Zion heard the organist rehearsing on the organ which had been played for Decoration Day services at the foot of the Great White Throne, its music echoing for miles between the canyon walls.

JOB TRAINING WILL START ON JULY 1

Training the right man for the right job.

That's the new program of the state of California's bureau of trades and industrial education which will get under way in Orange county about July 1.

J. C. Beswick, chief of the bureau, now is in Sacramento working for the passage of a bill that would provide state aid in launching the project to train young men to enter vacancies in the building trades.

Salaries Provided

The bill, if passed, would provide salaries for the coordinators that will be employed in the work of training young men who want to learn the building trades.

The bureau will start work in this area about July 1, in the opinion of G. W. Bassett, secretary-manager of the Orange County Builder's exchange. The exchange is working with Beswick in this district.

Coordinator

The coordinator to be appointed will be named by a committee from Santa Ana. The committee, comprised of Ray Adkinson, E. W. Mahl, E. E. Parks, O. T. Moore, Thermon Means, George Young and Norris Stone, will name the man it wishes to have charge of the training here.

When the coordinator is named he will go to Sacramento for training and will return to open classes in apprenticeship. Instructions will be given in evening classes with experts in each vocation training the youths wishing to prepare for that line of work.

FREIGHT LINES DISPUTE ENDS

Normal service from Santa Ana to all coast points was resumed today by Pacific Freight Lines at the close of a 60-day dispute between the company and the Teamsters union, D. W. Kelsey, local agent, reported today.

Because of open warfare both in the San Francisco and the San Pedro port areas, shipments to those points had been discontinued, Kelsey said.

It was announced late last night that the union and the Pacific Freight Lines had reached a settlement, details of which are to be worked out later.

The announcement was issued jointly by George M. Duntley of the freight lines and George A. Schultz, secretary of the union.

Principal issue of the dispute was the union demand for a closed shop. What agreement had been reached on the point was not announced. The union today had lifted its boycott against the line.

Breakfast Meet Today Informal

Informality dominated the Breakfast club this morning at the Main Cafeteria, the meeting taking an impromptu form in which members exchanged compliments and repartee. President Cochems presided. Song Leader Eddie Marble announced the Assistance league horse show for next Saturday at the Municipal bowl, and the Vera Getty concert at the high school auditorium for June 4th and 5th.

C. E. Lindsay introduced his guest, N. J. Hudson of Los Angeles, transportation inspector for the Santa Fe railroad. The program for next week has been assigned to Eddie Marble, the following week to Hunter Leach and to Joel Ogle the 24th of June.

TOWNSEND MEETING

Officers of all the Townsend clubs will meet at 7:30 p. m. Saturday in Townsend hall, 509 West Fourth street, for consideration of special matters, it was announced today. Association officials urged that all officers be present.

Judge Allen Urges Aid for Men Placed on Probation

Am I my brother's keeper?

This question was answered with an emphatic affirmative by Superior Judge James L. Allen last night when he appealed to members of the Orange County Press club to work with him on a new program of rehabilitation of adults who get into trouble.

Judge Allen, who presides over criminal court, held no brief for the hardened criminal or the habitual offender, but last night he launched a county-wide program designed to draw prominent citizens of the county into active, sympathetic work to help the victim of circumstances or environment.

"The time has come," he said "when the drunk driver who wilfully kills somebody must pay the penalty." He lauded The Journal's campaign against the menace of the drunken driver.

First Mistake

But the fellow Judge Allen is concerned about right now is the average man, who slips for the first time, perhaps through little fault of his own, and who appears before him to be sentenced.

"What to do with the fellows who ask for and are entitled to probation is the real problem," he said. "What can I do to give these fellows a lesson and stop them before they slip farther down?"

Judge Allen charged all responsible citizens of the county with the duty of being their "brother's keeper." In strong, sincere words he appealed for help in sponsoring the men who can be guided back into the right way of living with the moral support of people imbued with a human spirit of helpfulness and sympathy.

Family Destitute

And the problem isn't entirely that of the individual who gets into trouble. It goes back to his family, which is deprived of the bread-winner and head of the destitute when a man is sent to jail or prison.

Court Reporter William White gave statistics on probation activities. He pointed out that Probation Officer D. R. McMillan now has 302 probation cases to keep track of. There are 253 men, 14 women and 34 minors on probation. Thirty of the cases, sponsored by citizens, all have made good, he said.

A man who gets into trouble has a much better chance of getting probation and with it a chance to come back, if some prominent or responsible citizen offers to sponsor him, it was pointed out.

Challenge to County

"Back of these fellows," White said, "are their families which must be helped. That's real Christian charity. Orange county is the richest county in the world, and we can do something about this challenging problem."

What Judge Allen wants is to find unselfish men who will give of their time and interest—nothing mor —to help look after men home and which oftentimes is left during their probation periods.

Members of the press club voted unanimously to do all in their power to support the program. They recognized the challenge voiced by Judge Allen, and pledged themselves to an active interest in the program.

President Mason Yould presided at a brief business session at the meeting, held in the Corona del Mar cafe. Judge Allen acted as host to the newspapermen of the county.

PASS NEW LAW ON AVOCADOS

A new state avocado standardization law has been passed by the state legislature and has been signed by the governor, announces the Calavo Growers of California today. The measure was suggested and endorsed by the growers' organization.

Of benefit to both consumers and growers, the new standardization law equalizes the tolerance allowed for all defects at 10 per cent. Heretofore, some types of defects were allowed 15 per cent tolerance and others none, which caused considerable confusion.

Reporting on the new avocado crop outlook, Calavo Production Manager B. C. Stephens said trees untouched by the recent freeze are apparently setting a good to heavy crop in all districts, and that a weak set of doubtful value is also being found now on many trees affected by the freeze.

The frost-affected trees in nearly all instances are making a remarkable comeback. Only 5 per cent of the 1937 season crop now remains to be harvested. Stephens said avocado packing costs are in line with original anticipated figures for the season in spite of the unusually heavy amount of additional work caused by the freeze.

Thirty-nine new grower memberships were approved at the May 29 Calavo directors' session, it is also reported. The regular annual sign-up will open shortly.

Church Play Has Dress Rehearsal

Dress rehearsal of "The Rich Young Man," held last night at the high school auditorium, gave promise of an excellent and finished performance when the interchurch play is presented to the public Sunday night.

Young people from various churches of the city compose the cast, and the presentation will be in the nature of a union meeting of the Ministerial association.

Of Biblical interest, the play is rich and colorful in its ancient costumes and powerful rhetoric, and is strongly dramatic. Estelle Card Beeman is director. Special music will be provided by Elwood Bear and his orchestra.

GAS BLAST IN LUNGS KILLS PATIENT

BALTIMORE. (AP)—Dr. Winford Smith, director of the Johns Hopkins University hospital, said today that an explosion of gas in a patient's lungs had killed the patient during an operation.

Benjamin Taylor, 34, of Belnew, Md., was undergoing an operation for removal of a carbuncle on his neck. The operation had been completed and an electric cautery was being used when the explosion occurred. Two nurses standing by the patient were burned slightly, but the operating surgeon escaped injury.

TWO FLEEING CONVICTS KILLED

Three Recaptured, One At Large Following 'Break' In Texas

HUNTSVILLE, Tex. (AP)—Two fleeing negro convicts were killed, three recaptured, and a sixth escaped from the Darrington farm in Brazoria county Tuesday night, Texas prison officials were notified yesterday.

The convicts used pistols stolen by one of them from the arsenal at the guards' quarters. Rifle and shotgun fire from line guards felled two, and none of the guards was wounded in the sharp exchange.

Sol Van Dern, sentenced for robbery, and Nathaniel Slaton, for burglary, were killed as they tried to start an automobile and truck. James Alfred Martin, sentenced for burglary, was still at large.

Radiance Is Necessary For a Bride

By JACQUELINE HUNT

Every girl who expects to be a June bride dreams of a pertect wedding and of herself as a perfect bride. This is not an unattainable dream if the girl preperes a schedule of the numerous details that must be attended to in advance of the thrilling day. She should also work out a beauty budget so she will be as sweet and pretty as possible.

Two or three weeks before the wedding have a new permanent wave if you need one. This will give you time for at least one good reconditioning treatment and plenty of brushing so your curls will get over their first hard newness. You will also have time to find a simple and becoming coiffure.

Your hair arrangement must be simple. A bridal veil posed on top of fluffy curls and complicated rolls loses much of its charm. Besides, you will want a coiffure that you can arrange yourself while you are away on your honeymoon—one that doesn't become disarranged from being slept on.

Check over your supply of cosmetics and if you need new ones or if your present make-up shades are not perfectly suitable for you, take an afternoon off and go adventuring among the lovely new boxes, jars and bottles that have appeared in the last few weeks, You should also take every opportunity to practice applying make-up more artistically.

Concentrate on making your skin perfect. It can't be done in one day, you know, so begin as long in advance of the big event as possible. A good cleansing cream, a bland but penetrating soap, a complexion brush, a rich tissue cream, a cream mask that is both softening and stimulating, and a skin tonic or astringent are necessary tools.

Salads Appetizing For Summer

By JUDITH WILSON

These appetizing salads, cool and beautiful to look at, will add zest to any hot weather meal. Some of them, in fact, might well serve as the main course for luncheon or supper. Even a Sunday night supper would be more successful if the salad is a hearty jellied one of meat or seafood.

Cut a firm head of iceberg lettuce in thin slices and put 1 slice on each salad plate. Around the edge of the lettuce squeeze deviled egg yolks from a pastry tube. To make the latter, mash the yolks of hard-cooked eggs, with a little mayonnaise, prepared mustard and a few drops of vinegar, to make a paste. Season to taste with salt, pepper and a speck of sugar. Next make a circle of thin, over-lapping slices of cucumber. Place a small mound of fresh-cooked green peas on one side of the dish and a heap of cooked carrots on the other. These are more attractive if cut in julienne strips. Place a heap of cheese dressing in the center of the lettuce and garnish with a sprig of parsley.

To make the dressing, mix ¼ pound cream cheese and the same amount of roquefort cheese. Add 2 tablespoons French dressing, 1 tablespoon chili sauce and salt and pepper to taste. Beat until fluffy.

Jellied Shrimp Salad

Arrange 2 cups small cooked shimps in a ring mold. Soften 1 tablespoon gelatin in 3 tablespoons cold water. Mix 1 teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon dry mustard, ½ teaspoon paprika and 3 tablespoons melted butter. Stir in 1 egg, well beaten. Gradually add ½ cup hot boullion and cook in the top of a double boiler until the mixture coats a spoon. Add the softened gelatin and stir until dissolved, then add ¼ cup tarragon vinegar. Blend thoroughly, then turn into the mold over the shrimp and chill until set. Unmold and fill the center with chopped tomato and cucumber salad. Garnish with crisp lettuce leaves and parsley.

SIGNS TOO HIGH

ERIE, Pa. (AP)—A Warren, Pa., man sent this letter to the Erie chief of police: "Mr. Chief, Your Honor: One of your diligent sleuths told me it would be O.K. to mail this fine to you. Why don't you lower your 'NO parking' signs? A stranger doesn't see them unless he comes by plane."

INDIANS SEEK TO PROTECT RIGHTS

Southern California Indians went on the warpath today to protect their rights in lands.

John B. Romero, Santa Ana, director of the California Mission Indians, called attention of local citizens to the situation. He quoted from a letter to the Indian people of California, signed by Marcus J. Pete, Juane S. Hatchitt and Genevieve Pierre St. Marie.

This letter, written in Washington, D. C., said:

"We belong to the Mission Indians of Palm Springs, Riverside county, California. We left California for Washington on April 1 and arrived in Washington six days later on April 6, 1937. Mr. Sloan, our attorney, came by airplane, and was only 15 hours on the way.

Oppose Repeal

"We are here to prevent the Indian commissioner. Mr. Collier, from getting congress to pass a bill to repeal the act of 1917, under which we were given allotments. During this 20 years since 1917, we have made many improvements on our allotments at Palm Springs—some of us have gas stations, general supply stores, camping grounds, cottages for rent and restaurants.

"The efforts of the commissioner are to take away our property rights and reduce us to reservation Indians in which our allotments will be held in common for the tribe. He wants to sell our lots to real estate agents. This would mean that we would be expected to move to a windy part of the desert where the winds are so severe that the flying specks of gravel cut telephone wires, pit and sometimes break automobile windshields.

Fight for Rights

"We are here in Washington fighting for our rights. Our attorney, Mr. Sloan, has been winning for us in the federal courts in Los Angeles and has been winning for us in Washington. We are here on our own money. It was hard to raise but we understand now that we could not have protected our rights in any other way."

The letter was written in response to a movement to broaden the base of the claims of the Indians of California to include for settlement the claims of Indians with whom no treaties were made as well as those with whom a total of 18 treaties were negotiated in 1851 and 1852. The basis of all the claims is the aboriginal right of occupancy.

DOUBLE FEATURES

LIMA, Peru (American Wire)—A municipal law passed recently eliminates double feature movie bills. The law sets a time limit of two hours for any individual performance. This time limit includes the feature and whatever short subjects may be shown. The law is rigidly enforced by special policemen, who check the time. Fines are imposed in cases of violation.

Shows Operation To Cure Baldness

NEW YORK. —A surgical operation to cure baldness has been demonstrated by Dr. Gustave Aufrict, associate professor of clinical surgery at Columbia university.

Hollywood SIGHTS and SOUNDS

By ROBBIN COONS

By CAROLE LOMBARD
(Guest Columnist for Robbin Coons)

HOLLYWOOD.—"From now on she's going to be funny." Somebody wrote that line about me, and if I ever catch him I'm going to break his neck. The inspiration came to him just after I'd finished "My Man Godfrey," in which I was very hoydenish. Actually something did happen during the making of that picture. I found that I was able to break away from Lombard and be the person I was supposed to be on the screen. I dropped the last vestige of my self-consciousness.

Carole Lombard

But I did not plan just to be funny from that time on.

I think I showed that pretty clearly when I stepped into "Swing High, Swing Low." I was a comic character in that one. But more than that, I hope. There was considerable footage of tragic stuff. After all, you can't be very funny when you're playing a girl in love with someone, and that someone is a bum, and walking out of your life on top of that.

Refuses to Be a 'Type'

My new picture is "True Confession." It'll have humor, and plenty of it. But I'm certainly not going to run riot on one single shade of emotion when there are so many more in the book. I'm going to sample quite a few of them. The script isn't being written "to make the lines sound as if Lombard would say them." It's being written for a character I'm going to play.

Why? Because I'm not going to type myself. Typing means standing still. The public says, "There's no use seeing her again. I've seen her last three pictures, and they're all alike." And when you're standing still you're going backward, because Hollywood is fast and people are going to the right and left of you, passing you and getting ahead.

Aims for 'Surprises'

The idea, in Hollywood, is always to be new and slightly different. I'll be all right as long as the public says, "She's full of surprises." When I don't surprise them, you can count me out. That's why I got sore when somebody wrote, "From now on she's going to be funny." It might just as well have been, "She's going to be the same forever." That's practically libel, in this business.

Understand, I know my limitations. I don't care for "prestige" pictures. I don't want to do a film which is supposed to be epic, colossal, or terrific. I can't imagine myself a Duse or a Bernhardt. I'll leave that to the other little girls. But you can depend on this: as long as there's breath in the body, I'll try to make people say: "Have you seen the latest edition of Lombard?"

WILL OCCUPY NEW CHURCH SEPT. 1

Contractor Tells Of Progress On New Structure

With work well under way from steeples to basement, Contractor Jules Markel said today the new $70,000 Presbyterian church would probably be finished by Sept. 1.

Remodeling work on the church at Sixth and Sycamore streets, begun late in April, today saw exterior roofing almost completed, and cement floors in the basement banquet room being put in.

Rough work is completed on the interior partitions, balcony and choir loft, Markel said, with plastering to be done later. Exterior roofing will be completed on the steeples by Saturday, he added.

The remodeling climaxes an intensive program by church leaders. Building alone will approximate $50,000, with new furniture and fixtures bringing the total to around $70,000. While building work is being done, services are held in the Broadway theater.

RENT STRIKE DRAWS FIRE OF OWNERS

PONTIAC, Mich. (AP)—Landlords chorused an indignant protest today against a "rent strike" which organizers predict will involve 15,000 tenants.

"It's a short-sighted move," asserted O. A. Slater, real estate man whose apartments house 200 families.

Slater said he had reduced rents repeatedly from 1929 to 1933, but since that time had "tried to step up rents gradually as they (his factory-worker tenants) were able to pay." His rents now, he asserted, produce an income which is only 60 per cent of the 1928 yield.

"This is going to simmer itself down to landlord or tenant," said Mayor Samuel P. Backus, a property owner and past president of the real estate board. Backus pointed out present rents appear high in contrast to "distress rents" which prevailed during the depression.

Activities of organizing committees of the United Automobile Workers of America, which is directing the "strike," continued to offer the only tangible evidence the movement was actually under way. Landlords were reluctant to discuss the reactions of their tenants.

A union report said rentals had increased during the last year an average of 62½ per cent.

The rent committee opened offices yesterday and instructed tenants to have rents "approved" before payment.

Two Arizona Mines Sold

KINGMAN, Ariz. (AP)—Purchase of the Pilgrim and Klondyke mines in the Weaver district at an undisclosed price was announced by H. W. Thorne, president of the Producers' Mines, Inc.

The mines were bought from the Pioneer Gold Mining company, which had found heavy deposits of picture rock, some of them running as rich as $1000 a ton.

Thorne and A. M. Davis, vice-president of thepurchasing company, reside in Pasadena, Calif. Robert A. Elgin will manage operations.

Los Angeles Has Building Boom

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Building operations in Los Angeles thus far this year show a heavy increase over the corresponding period for 1936, C. Makutichan, building superintendent, announced today.

For 1937, 18,000 building permits with a representative value of $25,765,977 nave been issued, he said, contrasted with 13,100 permits of $20,880,430 valuation during the first five months of 1936.

M'ADOO GIVEN HOLC DATA

WASHINGTON. (AP)—The Federal Home Owners Loan Corporation disclosed, in response to a request from Senator W. G. McAdoo, that it foreclosed on 1210 California borrowers during the 1936 fiscal year, 35 the pervious year, and none in 1934. Senator McAdoo said he had received "a large number of complaints."

Snake At Home In Overheated Car

CLAREMORE, Okla. (AP)—Walter Boyd, patrolman at Lake Claremore, noticed the motor of his automobile was unusually hot as he drove from the lake to Claremore.

Boyd refilled the radiator but on his way back to the lake the same trouble occurred. He raised the hood and found the fan belt was broken.

He reached for the broken belt but sprang back when he found a copperhead snake coiled in striking position on the pan by the motor.

NAME ROGERS MEMORIAL CHAIRMAN

OKLAHOMA CITY. (AP)—Major General Roy Hoffman, Oklahoma City, was appointed by Governor Marland yesterday as chairman of the Will Rogers Memorial commission.

The commission, created by the sixteenth legislature, will plan erection of a memorial to the late Claremore humorist. The legislature appropriated $200,000 for the memorial, and legislation now is pending in congress to appropriate funds to match state contributions up to $500,000.

In making the appointments, Marland said he favored erection of an historical museum as the Rogers monument.

MAKEUP ARTIST IS DIVORCED

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Percival Westmore, a member of the well-known family of makeup artists, was divorced yesterday, just three days after one of his four brothers was married.

Mrs. Virginia Thomas Westmore obtained a decree from him. She said he stated, in presence of other people, that he was sorry he ever married her, and that he no longer loved her. They were wed June 7, 1924, she said.

Last Sunday, Hamilton Westmore, youngest of the five artists, eloped to Las Vegas, Nev., with Martha Raye, movie comedienne.

One Way To Get Rid Of Salesman

WASHINGTON. (AP)—The secretary of a West Virginia representative has found an almost sure way to "turn down" magazine salesmen.

Each time a salesman enters her office she immediately takes over a routine job such as addressing envelopes in longhand.

Then she tells the salesman:

"I'm sorry but I couldn't take any magazines, I'm just working here to earn railroad fare to my home."

It works, she says, and once it worked too well. She spent a half hour explaining why she couldn't accept the offer of one salesman to ride to West Virginia with him—he was going there the next day.

Girl Suicide In Home Of 'Strip Artist'

HIGHLAND MILLS, N. Y. (AP)—The death of Miss Genevieve Augustin, 29, Kenosha, Wis., art student, in the home here of Gypsy Rose Lee, recent New York burlesque "queen," was pronounced a suicide today by Coroner Edward Garrison.

Coroner Garrison said Miss Augustin shot herself. She had been visiting at the Hovick (Lee) home for seven weeks.

Check Defendant Sued For Divorce

Edmund Graiewski, Santa Ana electrician who was returned yesterday from Chicago to face fictitious check charges, faced new trouble today as his wife, Eunice, filed a divorce complaint in superior court.

She charged that he gambled away his money and lied to her about his financial standing. In addition she charged tnat he cursed her and struck her on several occasions and had failed to provide for her during the past year.

Morris Cain, Santa Ana attorney, prepared the complaint.

JAIL TERM MADE EASY

EVANSVILLE, Ind. (AP)—Whenever James H. Yangley, 42, has time on his hands, he can drop around to the jail for a day or two. In city court he was convicted of drunken driving and given a 30-day jail term—to be served in his "spare time."

ACTRESS FILES TAX APPEAL

WASHINGTON. (AP) — Marion Dix Bromley, Paris, France, asked the board of tax appeals today to redertermine a $385 deficiency assessed on her 1934 income taxes.

She contended the bureau of internal revenue erred in disallowing deductions for contributions, expenses and credit for dependents.

"We picture people," she tola the board, "are notoriously generous with our fellows who are out of luck because most of us have been on the rocks too at one time or another."

The petitioner, in seeking credit for supporting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. P. Dix, Pasadena, Calif., said her mother was ill and "all three of us are likely to be on government relief before long."

ODDS and ENDS

By PAUL WRIGHT

Vacation will send A. J. (Bill) Cook, who likes to fish and hunt between football seasons, to Ensenada for the early part of the summer . . . The handsome ex-Trojan, who has produced three Southern California J. C. championship elevens in 10 years with the Dons, may enroll in Sam Barry's coaching school at Catalina Island in August . . . He plans to call out his junior collegians — 60 strong — the first week in September, and it will be to the advantage of all prospects to report EARLY. Showings in drill will determine the 30-odd players who will make the train trip to Palo Alto to play Stanford's Frosh Sept. 24.

* * *

The friendly enemies, Joe Rodgers and "Doc" Smith, are at it again.

Remarks Rodgers of the Oilers: "The Stars will NEVER beat us with Earl Morrill in the box (Santa Ana lost the first game at Huntington Beach, 3-0)."

Remarks Smith of the Stars: "We can, but it won't be necessary as long as the Oilers continue to be soft touches against other opposition (Doc was referring to 4-1, 6-3 and 4-3 losses Huntington Beach met against Anaheim, Orange and Colton, respectively)."

* * *

Capt. Herschel Whitney, Wendell Tedrow and Jack Clark were the king-pins of Santa Ana High school track, as clearly shown in statistics compiled by Danny Frias, midget mascot.

* * *

Whitney, miler who reached the Southern California finals but placed eighth, sparked the Saints in the varsity division with 58 points this year. Tedrow, who holds the C. I. F. broad jump record of 6 ft. 1⅛ in., tied Larry Dresser, pole vaulter, in Class B with 69 points, seven ahead of Sprinter Jerome Duffy.

* * *

Clark, low hurdler, was the outstanding performer in Class C, but Bob Kelchner led in points, 44 to 39 . . . Most of Clark's points resulted from first places, while Kelchner capitalized on seconds and thirds.

* * *

Here is a record that is a record for high school athletic teams:

Marblehead, Mass., preps have journeyed more than 25,000 miles in baseball, basketball and football during the past three years! And the coach of the school, with 400 students in a city of 10,000, is arranging a 13,000-mile round trip to Honolulu for a football game next fall . . . Coach Charles McGuinness played none of the three major sports, but pulled an oar for crack crews at the University of Washington .

Comparative records of four games, often a good measuring stick, indicate the powerful nines will go into their conflct on even terms. To date, Brea has a slightly better team hitting average, .318 to .310, but Irvine has scored three shutouts to Brea's two The records:

Boxing on Upgrade On West Coast, Says Suey Welch

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Boxing, with purses and gate receipts comparable to the boom days of the 1920's, is definitely on the upgrade on the west coast.

Matchmaker Suey Welch, dapper ex-Akron fight manager who now bosses the biggest arena in town, the Olympic, declared the recent all-star open air card at Wrigley Field was an unmistakable barometer.

Nearly 30,000 fans turned out to see Bob Pastor and Bob Nestell, feature heavyweights on the bill, and threatening weather scared away many thousands more. It was the biggest turnout in nearly a decade.

"That showed local interest in boxing," Welch said, "and you can expect new interest in coast shows from leading fight managers in the East."

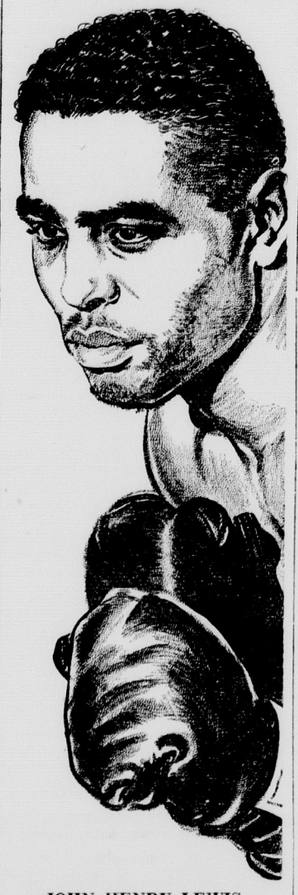
Welch predicted two of his coming cards would sell out the 20,400-seat Olympic—the Maxie Rosenbloom-Lee Ramage heavyweight bout next week, and the following featherweight encounter between Henry Armstrong, California-recognized champion, and Jackie Carter of Pittsburgh.

LEWIS' LIGHT HEAVY TITLE ON BLOCK

Bob Olin Fights Negro 175-Pound Champ in St. Louis Tonight

By WHITNEY MARTIN

ST. LOUIS, (AP)—Bob Olin, a rebuilt job, will seek to regain the world light heavyweight boxing championship when he meets John Henry Lewis in a 15-round bout here tonight.



JOHN HENRY LEWIS
Risks Light-Heavy Crown

Olin was wrecked quite thoroughly on an October night in 1935. For 15 rounds he stood up before a deadly barrage of blows aimed by the nimble-fisted Lewis, but the fact that he stood up counted heavily in his favor in his bid for a rematch.

The New Yorker went into eclipse after that bout. He bobbed up occasionally to lose impressively to a variety of opponents, but suddenly leaped back into the spotlight with a victory over Gunnar Barlund, a promising heavyweight.

Lewis, on the other hand, has improved steadily. Busier than a one-man band, he has waded through a rather soggy field of light heavies and staged short forways into the heavyweight pasture, where he threatens to make his home when he has cleaned up the cruiser class.

Both men are in top condition, and were expected to be a pound or two under the 175-pound limit when they weighed in at 9 a. m. today.

Olin, beset by mental hazards of illness and death in the family when he lost his crown, today was said by his handlers to be in the best form of his career. In his workouts he showed a devastating left hook which, should he land it early, may short-circuit the Lewis dynamo.

Despite this expressed confidence, odds against the challenger ranged as high as 4 to 1.

Walter Heisner, the third man in the ring at the earlier meeting, again will referee the main event, which is scheduled for 8 p. m., Central Standard Time.

SPORT SLANTS

The St. Louis Cardinals may or may not have picked up another Babe Ruth in the person of 18-year-old Archie Templeton. But there are parallels that recall the Sultan of Swat when you review the youngster's career.

Templeton attracted the attention of Cardinal scouts while playing with an orphanage team in Winston-Salem, N. C., just as Babe Ruth did as a youngster in Baltimore.

* * *

Archie looks like the Babe did when he launched his baseball career. Teammates call Archie "Moon." He's a husky lad, a 6-footer weighing 190 pounds. He is a left-handed pitcher, too, as Ruth was.

Templeton's amazing hurling and batting prompted the Cardinals to lay out the largest bonus they ever paid for a signature.

* * *

In 60 innings this spring Templeton allowed only 16 hits and 11 runs. He boasted a batting average of more than .400 for three seasons of high school and summer baseball.

Templeton, who entered the orphanage from Charlotte nine years ago, did not confine his activities to baseball. He made almost every 1936 all-North Carolina high school football team. Coaches voted him the best schoolboy back of the year.

* * *

His work had much to do with the Children's Home winning 12 straight games to run its streak to 34 in a row after three years. This grid record was climaxed by winning the state high school, the state orphanage and the South Piedmont conference titles. Children's Home also has claims on the South Carolina and Virginia championships.

* * *

In addition, Archie was for three years the spearhead of his team's attack on the basketball court.

Archie first attracted attention when he fanned 24 Mooresville men last year, winning, 4-2. He repeated against another team with 23 more strikeouts. This spring he did not lose a game.

'Doc' Smith Goes Fishing; Stars at Riverside Friday

Ray (Doc) Smith, player-manager of Santa Ana's Stars, was on a one-day fishing trip to the Coronado Islands with Dr. Perry Davis today. Smith leads his league-leading Stars to Riverside tomorrow night to open the second round of nightball play, while Huntington Beach goes to Westminster, Anaheim to Orange. Colton plays at San Bernardino tonight.

CY BLANTON'S SHUTOUT AID TO PIRATES

Ruffing Chalks Up 4th Win for Yankees, 8-4; Mungo Tops Cards

By BILL BONI
Associated Press Sports Writer

While Dizzy Dean was being banned and refusing to sign any and all apologies yesterday, three other old-established firms and two new ones were making bids for recognition on a basis of services rendered.

The trio of veterans who passed new milestones of effectiveness were, in the other of their teams' standing: Darrell Elijah (Cy) Blanton, Charley Ruffing and Van Lingle Mungo.

Blanton Scores Shutout

Blanton pitched his third straight shutout in setting down the Boston Bees, 2-0, and keeping the Pirates on top of the National heap; Ruffing got his fourth straight victory in a seven-hit, 8-4 shellacking of the Indians to stretch the Yankees' American league margin to four games, and Mungo, big Brooklyn right-hander who pitched the Dodgers to within a half game of the Cards by halting St. Louis, 6-2.

Newcomer Lefty Clyde Shoun, 22-year-old Chicago Cub recruit, won 2-1 over the Giants for his fourth of the year and the Cubs' seventh straight, and George Robert Tebbetts, the Tigers' chunky third string catcher, hit an 11th-inning homer with two on to give Detroit an 11-8 verdict over the Senators.

But Blanton and Mungo and Ruffing, who has won every game he's pitched since making his holdout-delayed start on May 16, are major leaguers of established reputation and ability. Shoun, on the other hand, was with Birmingham of the Southern association last season, while Tebbetts, except for the last 10 games of the season, spent all of the 1936 campaign with Beaumont of the Texas league.

Tebbetts Hits .407

Shoun already has built up a name as a giant killer. Three of his four victories have been scored at the expense of Bill Terry's club, now only a half game ahead of the Cubs.

Tebbetts, getting his chance through the injury to Manager Mickey Cochrane, is batting .407 for the eight games he has played. His game winning homer was his second in three days and broke up a wild ball game during which the Tiger infielders made six errors. Jack Russell, who pitched the last inning, was credited with the victory, and Joe Cascarella, who hurled the last two, was the loser for the Nats.

In the only other games played the Cincinnati Reds, with three double plays to their rivals' four, whipped the Phillies, 8-4. The Athletics, at St. Louis, and the Red Sox, at Chicago, were rained out.

CARD HURLER DENIES ALL CHARGES

Frick States Suspension Sticks Indefinitely; Conference Fails

NEW YORK. (AP)—Dizzy Dean today refused to sign any statement of apology to the National league for his actions on and off the field and remains under indefinite suspension.

Disciplined yesterday by Ford Frick, league president, for "conduct detrimental to the best interests of baseball," the famed right hander of the St. Louis Cardinals, together with Manager Frank Frisch, held a two-hour conference with Frick today.

Dean issued a flat denial that he ever had made statements attributed to him, which reflected upon the integrity of the National league's officers and the umpires. He declined, however, to sign any statement refuting them.

Accordingly, Frick announced his suspension would continue indefinitely.

NEW YORK. (AP)—Jerome Herman (Dizzy) Dean today tossed the gauntlet to President Ford Frick of the National league, declaring he would quit baseball trather than sign the letter of apology tendered following his indefinite suspension "for conduct detrimental to the best interests of baseball."

The show down was due this morning when the hurling ace of the St. Louis Cardinals and Manager Frankie Frisch conferred with Frick in the league offices. Diz declared he would go home and spend the remainder of his life playing golf rather than apologize for something he insists he never said.

Frick's disciplinary action, which broke like a bomb-shell yesterday, climaxed a series of incidents that have kept Dean in the headlines since the spring training season. The latest sequence began May 19 when the New York Giants and Carl Hubbell beat the Cards and Dean 4-1 in a game that ended in a ninth-inning riot.

Dizzy was fined $50 for his part in the free-for-all, the outgrowth of a balk called on him by Umpire George Barr during a Giant rally in the sixth inning.

Subsequently, Frick charges Dean spoke out of turn about the league in general and its presidents and umpires in particular. The star right hander was quoted as saying he would give $1000 to the newspaper man who would print exactly what he (Dean) thought of Frick, that he would not play in this year's all-star game, if selected, and that "George Barr and Ford Frick are the 'two biggest crooks' in baseball today." The latter statement was attributed to Dean at a father and sons' banquet at Belleville, Ill.

"It's down to the question of whether Dean is bigger than the National league," said Frick. "I don't think he is but this can all be settled quickly if Dean sees the error of his ways and frankly apologizes to the league for the things he has said or implied and put it in wriitng."

That's what Jerome Herman emphatically declared he would not do.

"I'd rather jump out of that window (he was on the 20th floor of a hotel) than sign that letter of apology," said Dean.

FRICK'S STATEMENT

Frick issued this formal announcement at the conclusion of today's conference:

"At a conference this morning between Manager Frank Frisch, Secretary Clarence F. Lloyd and Player Jerome Dean of the St. Louis club and the president of the National league, all statements, purported to have been made by Mr. Dean and quoted in the press, reflecting upon the integrity and honesty of the National league office and umpires, were discussed thoroughly.

"Mr. Dean made a blanket denial of ever having made any of the statements and said he had not at any time made such statements.

"He refused, however, to sign a public statement refuting the alleged remark, or any other statement that he was misquoted. As a result, it is the ruling of the National league office that player Dean remain under indefinite suspension."

HE'S MYSTERY MAN OF GOLF

Beats 'Bing' With Rake, Bat

HOLLYWOOD. (AP)—The mystery man of golf, John Montague, (He knocked a sparrow off a telephone wire with a 400-yard drive) snubbed a challenge today that he show a tournament gallery his collection of fabulous strokes.

In the first public statement of his career, mysterious John (he smashed a course record to smithereens, but picked upon the last hole) explained he prefers to play in private because it is "more fun."

What broke Montague's silence, at the culmination of a nation-wide whispering campaign regarding his links prowess, was an "open letter" from a sports magazine, inviting him to give golfers "a fair opportunity to judge the merits of his game."

He has never entered a tournament, but his friends claim he is an uncrowned champion. Montague (he beat Bing Crosby by driving with a baseball bat and putting with a garden rake) is more modest.

"Golf, to me," he said, "is the greatest game in the world. I enjoy it as a game and will never permit an 'open letter' or an inaccurate 'goading' article to force me to have any other attitude toward golf.

"I love to play golf—for fun—and if I thought I could get more fun out of playing in tournaments than I get playing my friends I would play in tournaments.

"I am sorry that all of these stories about me are going the rounds. Most of them are true. Some are not. But anyhow who expects me or anyone else to perform miracle golf shots on demand is asking too much.

"After all," he concluded, "I am only human even though I may be blessed with considerable strength."

Numa, Underhill, Coleman in Supporting Mat Roles Here

The supporting card for Monday night's heavyweight wrestling rematch between Hans Steinke and Vincent Lopez, Mexican mat idol, was completed late yesterday by the Orange County Athletic club, with the signing of Cyclone Underhill, rough and tumble Kansas City grappler, to meet Leo Numa, the blond "Lion Man" of the mat.

Numa and Underhill battle it out in the secondary feature on the four-bout program. Like the main event, this bout also looms as a "natural."

Little Caesar Grubbs, spectacular middleweight, who has made a name as one of the wildest little fellows in the ring, has been paired with Bobby Coleman, popular 160-pound star.

Little Caesar still thinks he can take Coleman if he can get the breaks and the referee to turn the other way long enough for him to clamp on one of his illegal holds.

Red Vagonne, Italian 190-pounder, whose speed, cleverness and all around wrestling made a hit with fans two weeks ago, returns to tackle Wildman Zim, long-haired, barefooted, South American grappler, in the special event. Tickets will go on sale throughout the county and at the arena tomorrow, officials announced today.

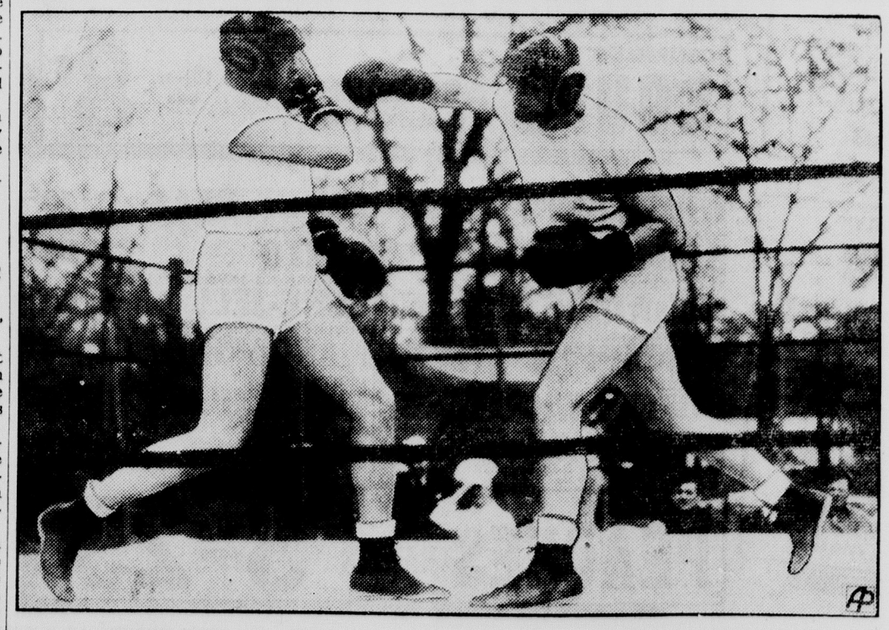
LOPEZ TRIUMPHS

LOS ANGELES. (AP) — Another grappling victor for Vincent Lopez, Los Angeles heavyweight, was recorded today, and this time the loser was Baptiste Paul, 215-pounder of Vancouver, B. C.

Lopez was downed by Paul With a headlock slam in 19 minutes, but he came back to take the second and third falls in easy fashion last night.

Bluebeard Lewis, 235, and Daniel Boone Savage, 227, pulled each other's beards until Savage pinned his foe twice.

NEW YORK GARDEN SUSPENDS JIM BRADDOCK



NEW YORK. (AP)—The New York State Athletic commission today slapped an indefinite suspension on Heavyweight Champion James J. Braddock for his failure to appear for a 15-round title bout with Max Schmeling, Germany.

The commission also fined Braddock and Joe Louis, whom he is scheduled to meet in Chicago on June 22, $1000 each.

Gen. John J. Phelan, commission chairman, announced that the New York solons had notified all state athletic commissions affiliated with the New York board that it would suspend any boxer meeting Braddock before the champion goes through with his contract to defend his title against Schmeling.

This was taken to mean that Louis, if he goes through with his Chicago bout against the champion, automatically would be suspended in New York state.

Par Takes Beating as 170 Golfers Qualify for Open

NEW YORK. (AP)—Old Man Par took one of the worst beatings in his career, but he managed to whittle an entry list of 1404 golfers—an all-time record for the United States Open championship—down to a field of 170 which will start play a week from tomorrow at the Oakland Hills club, Birmingham, Mich.

Topping the par-shattering yesterday in 30 district qualifying tests were 36-hole counts of 136 registered by Sam Snead of White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., and E. J. (Dutch) Harrison of Stuttgart, Ark. A single round of 64 by Orville White, Champion Tony Manero's successor as pro at the Sedgefield club, Greensboro, N. C., also stood out.

Snead, heading five aspirants for places on the Ryder cup team, carded a sensational round of 65 after an opening 71 while Harrison shot 69-67 to share the qualifying lead. White, with 74-65—138, was close behind. Three of the Ryder cup candidates had 140's for their 36-hole tests, Craig Wood at New York and Byron Nelson and Ed Dudley at Philadelphia, while Jimmy Hines shot 146.

Two former open champions, Sam Parks, jr., and Willie MacFarlane, passed the tests, while the veterans, Chick Evans and Freddie McLeod, 1908 winner, failed. Banks shot 147, while MacFarlane had 149. Evans wound up with 155 and McLeod with 162.

Other prominent players who failed to qualify included Leo Diegel, Sammy Byrd, the former ball player; Reynolds Smith, Al and Abe Espinosa, Johnny Lehman, Gene Kunes, Charley Yates, Roland MacKenzie, Sam Perry, Lester Bolstad, Joe Turnesa and Mike Brady.

Topping the amateur qualifiers was Crawford Rainwater, 21-year-old Emory university star, who put together a pair of 70's to cop the one place available at Atlanta.

LOS ANGELES FIGHTERS ON CARD HERE

Reese, Atwood Atom, To Battle Perez; Prelims Contain Fast Boys

By KENNETH ADAMS

Two main events that should prove to be standouts will grace Matchmaker George Stewert's eight-bout boxing show at the Orange County Athletic club tonight.

In the top spot Santa Ana's flashy, left-hooking scrapper, Raoul Solis, meets another clever boxer in Sammy Rey, Los Angeles lad. Rey is expected to have trouble solving Solis' unusual style of fighting, which has proved to be bothersome to some of the best amateur boxers in these parts. Solis made his first appearance in many months last week when he whipped Everett (Cyclone) Jure.

Jure is another attraction on the program. The fighting Frenchman from Redlands will tangle with Harry White, Los Angeles, in the second half of the double main. Jure may not make many more appearances as an amateur, planning to turn professional before long.

Little Barney Reese, the Atwood atom, will face a worthy opponent in Art Perez, Los Angeles. These two have met before, Reese winning a hairline decision. Perez is out to beat the flashy little Reese. Both lads, who will clash in the semi-windup, are busy little battlers.

Popular Eddie Moore, the Sherman Indian who pinned back Baby Face Shaw's ears last week, performs in the special event against Jehu Jennings, burly Los Angeles battler.

Four fast preliminaries will complete the card. These will feature Tony Mendez, Ontario, vs. Baby Kid Buddy, Los Angeles; Joe Navarro, Atwood, vs. Willie Brown, Los Angeles; Sal Baca, Ontario vs. Nash Diaz, Los Angeles; and Uley Davis, Sherman Indian, vs. Al Higgs, Los Angeles.

TONIGHT'S CARD

Tony Mendez vs. Baby Kid Buddy, 128.

SIX TICKETS LIMIT FOR ROSE BOWL

Coast Conference Votes To Ban Out-of-State Tilts for 8 Weeks

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—The 10 Pacific Coast conference football teams will be prevented from playing intersectional games during the eight-week round-robin season, effective 1938.

Coaches, managers and faculty representatives of the member colleges and universities also voted last night to begin the round-robin season the first Saturday in October. The teams will be permitted to play intersectional games before or after the regular season.

Officials said the action was taken to prevent schools from scheduling so many intersectional games the round-robin plan would be threatened.

Attempting to prevent scalping of tickets to the Rose Bowl New Year's Day game at Pasadena, the conference voted to limit each applicant to six tickets, effective after 1938. Box seats will be priced at $5.50, seats between the Goals $4.40, and seats beyond the goals $3.30.

The 1938 football schedule, approved yesterday, will not be released until the December meeting.

Seattle was awarded the May 21 Pacific Coast conference track meet.

A committee of coaches was named to have charge of selections and appointments to the coast team for the Coast-Big Ten track meet June 25-26 in Los Angeles. Al Masters, Stanford graduate manager, was appointed team manager.

Deming McClise, U. C. L. A., will act as commissioner of officials, replacing Carl Lodell, Oregon State, who is retiring.

GENE LILLARD WINS NINTH FOR SEALS

By the Associated Press

San Francisco's Missions Reds and the Oakland Acorns, the browbeaten stepchildren of the Pacific Coast baseball league, can take early game leads and hold them, sometimes.

The Oaks trimmed Los Angeles, 6 to 3, last night, holding the Angels scoreless until the ninth inning. Tuesday the Acorns took a comfortable lead in the first inning, but before the game was over saw it absorbed by the Angels, who won.

The Missions took an early lead against Seattle Tuesday night, but before the lights went out were on the short end of the score. Last night the Reds again took an early lead, withstood a determined Seattle batting attack led by Art Hunt, who blasted his 15th homer, and finally won, 8 to 7.

Gene Lillard, the revamped third baseman, won his ninth game as the Seals increased their league leadership to two full games by beating the second-place Sacramento Solons, 7 to 4.

It took the Portland Beavers 10 innings and a smashing double by Moose Clabaugh, with two on the bags, to defeat the third-place San Diego Padres, 4 to 3. The Padres had taken an early lead, with runs in the third and fourth innings, but the Beavers rallied to tie the count with runs in the sixth and eighth.

Larry Woodall of the Seals, the league's leading hitter, continued to set the pace by smacking two singles in four times at bat.

The San Diego management announced today Joe Gonzales, who pitched 21 straight victories for the University of California's baseball team, would join the Padres on their return to San Diego next Tuesday. Gonzales, who is training in San Diego, went to the Padres on option from the Boston Red Sox.

Endeavour II Speedier Than Old Contender

T. O. M. Sopwith maintains he is not certain Endeavour II, with which he hopes to lift the America's cup, is any faster than the yacht with which he made his unsuccessful bid in 1934. Capt. George Henry Williams, master of Endeavor II, is more outspoken. Captain Williams opines the new craft is much speedier.

Captain Williams is a veteran. Having skippered Endeavor I three years ago, he is in a position to speak with authority. For one thing, Endeavor II is likely to be more capably manned than her predecessor.

No part amateur crew will man the new yacht. With the exception of five hands, the crew of Endeavor II will be the same professional crew she had when racing in British waters last year. There is no likelihood of a repetition of the bungling which cost Endeavor I so dearly.

Endeavor II is an impressive blue craft, 132 feet overall. Her underbody is white; a white stripe outlines her deck. Her mast, likewise, is white.

Sopwith was keenly disappointed when his yacht failed in 1934. So disappointed there was doubt in his mind he would ever try again. But, with time to think over the reasons for failure, he could not resist another fling. He may not have the perserverance of the late Sir Thomas Lipton, who led five quests, but the lure of seeking the America's cup, especially in the coronation year, was too much for Sopwith.

The early date of the races (they start July 31) may help Sopwith. The English crew will have one advantage. They have been drilling as a unit since last year. The American yacht will not be selected until trial races have been sailed.

Townsend News, Views

By WALTER R. ROBB

Santa Ana Club No. 3, which meets tonight at 509 West Fourth street at 7:30 o'clock, will hear W. A. Zimmerman, president of the Orange County Townsend Club Officers association as its speaker. This column is in receipt of a letter from Mrs. Anna C. Buckley, chairman of the booth committee which conducted a booth at the Townsend bazar for this club. Mrs. Buckley was the first to respond with details of information concerning results attained from having conducted a booth at the affair.

The following women, in addition to Mrs. Buckley, were members of the committee: Mrs. Ethel Madison, Mrs. Della Hendershot, Mrs. Ethel Scott, Mrs. Addie Hunt, Mrs. C. Stockton, and Mrs. Perrington. These women, with the assistance of Mrs. Ella Stowe and Mrs. La Flaum, placed the decorations on the booth which was worked out in a blue and yellow color scheme added to by asperagus fern.

Mrs. Buckley writes: "A bouquet of yellow roses added a pretty finish to the top of the booth and a glittering star placed above the lettering 'Club No. 3' was to represent the hope of bringing the United States out its prolonged depression through the passing of the general welfare act H. R. 4199."

She also reports that the club cleared over $40 from the sale of fancy work, pictures and other useful articles. She also reports many choice pieces of handwork having been sent in by invalids who never have a chance to attend club meetings. She concludes her communication by saying, "Hats off to these people who are doing their bit at home expressing in that way their loyalty to the Townsend plan."

Thanks, Mrs. Buckley, for your promptness and carefulness in giving this information in answer to the writer's request for such from all clubs having booths at the bazar.

Harry F. Hayward just called on the writer at his home and requested that announcement be made that Santa Ana Club No 7 would meet tomorrow night at 7:30 in the Orange Avenue Christian church at McFadden and Orange streets. Hayward is publicity program chairman for the club. He says, "Peter F. Benthein, president will preside over the business session and all members of the club's advisory board are urged to be present, as the board will have business of importance to transact."

* * *

President R. E. Marks of Santa Ana Club No. 10 writes that his club will meet tomorrow at 7:30 p. m. at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Holmberg, 602 East Sixth street, for a business session. This club is negotiating a lease for a permanent meeting place, which will later be announced if obtained. The membership is cordially invited to be present tomorrow night at the Holmberg home.

* * *

Santa Ana Club No. 9 will meet at 7:30 tomorrow evening in the C. A. Holloway home at 2027 Cypress street. J. N. Wire is president of this club and will preside tomorrow night. The membership is urged to be present. The writer would call attention of this club of the need of electing a delegate to attend the 19th district convention in Riverside on June 26 at 1 p. m. All other clubs also take notice.

Mrs. Sara Shane, secretary of Club No. 5 in Santa Ana, makes a report concerning the accomplishments which this club realized from having conducted one of the bazar booth. This club specialized in the sale of articles of needlework, canned foods and candies. A neat sum was realized for the club's treasury. She gives the following ladies' names and addresses as having composed the booth committee: Mrs. W. T. Miller, 420½ South Parton, chairman; Mrs. Maude Miller, 721 South Birch; Mrs. Mable Roach, 414 South Birch; Mrs. Lillie Feasler, 420 South Sycamore; Mrs. Irene McAdoo, 1030 West Highland, and Mrs. Nora Huckaby, 1022 West Highland.

She adds that Mrs. Flora Dolbee, club secretary, made her contribution to the supply of articles and in other ways while she was confined in bed with illness. Mrs. Shane is very modest and makes no mention in her communication of her own part in the affair, but the writer noted that she also was mighty active in the booth affair during the bazar. Herbert F. Kenny will be the speaker for this club next Tuesday evening when it meets again.

* * *

The writer also has before him a communication from Mrs. Rachel Gatzlaff of the Tustin club, outlining the accomplishments of the club's booth and giving names of those who were particularly active during the bazar and giving other information. She says that John Sauers, president, built the booth and Ira Wertz, nurseryman of Tustin, furnished the potted plants which the booth sold. Mr. Wertz was president of this club for a long period. The cut flowers were furnished by Mr and Mrs. Benton of West First street, Tustin.

The following women were very active in the booth work; Mrs. George Thomas, Mrs. B. S. Beswick, Mrs. J. H. Sauers, Mrs. H. Hibbett, Mrs. Rachel Gatzlaff, Mrs. Moore, Mrs. Benton and Mrs. Canthan. The ones responsible for the beautiful decorations of the booth were Mrs. Thomas, Mrs. Beswick and Mrs. Sauer.

In addition to the potted plants and cut flowers which this club specialized in, there were also embroidery articles and other needlework furnished by the ladies, which were sold. Something over $30 was realized for the club treasury by this club's booth.

PICKHARDT IS NEW JAYSEE LEADER

Wins Presidency On First Ballot At Don Election

Albert Pickhardt was elected on the first ballot as president of the Associated Students at Santa Ana Junior college in primaries conducted yesterday. He will serve next semester.

The new president is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roland Pickhardt of 820 North Bush street.

Along with Pickhardt, Virginia Sheppard was elected secretary, while Carl Aubrey was named treasurer. The remaining office —vice president—will be voted on in finals Friday.

A 50 per cent vote was cast, according to President Neil McDaniel, who was in charge of the election.

Amendments Adopted

President-Elect Pickhardt is at present commissioner of forensics. He is a member of the Buccaneers, men's service club. He was a member of the near-championship debate team, as well as a prominent orator.

All five amendments to the constitution were adopted by a majority of the students. These were that:

1. The office of commissioner of forensics shall be changed to commissioner of forensics and assemblies.

2. There shall be a commissioner of advertising on the executive board.

3. In case of vacancy of any office through resignation or leaving school the remaining elective officers shall immediately appoint someone to fill that vacancy.

4. The second semester editor of El Don, and Del Ano editor and treasurer shall be given rebates on Associated Student tickets on the same basis as those of the first semester.

5. There shall be only one election for class officers.

Other Offices

Miss Sheppard won over Helen Warner, her only opponent, in the secretarial race The treasury post went to Aubrey after he defeated Bud Knoff.

Finals in the vice presidential race will be run off Friday between Dave Pheonix and Lawrence Trickey, who received the highest number of votes for that office. A field of five students competed for the post.

Vice presidential candidates were Roberta Berry, LaVonne Frandson, Billie Johnson, Dave Pheonix and Lawrence Trickey.

Other presidential nominees were Dick Geeting and Bob Wilde.

Speeches were delivered by campaign managers and presidential candidates during a morning assembly at Willard auditorium. Edward Velarde spoke on behalf of the winning candidate, Al Pickhardt, while Franklin Guthrie spoke for Dick Geeting and Al Titensor delivered a talk for Bob Wilde.

To Select Board

Pickhardt will have the privilege of naming his own members for next semester's executive board. This consists of social commissioner, commissioner of forensics and assemblies, commissioner of men's athletics, commissioner of women's athletics, and advertisng commissioner. The two remaining commissioners, for El Don and Del Ano, are appointed by a faculty member.

This semester's officers, who will be replaced, are Neil McDaniel, president; Fred Erdhaus, vice president; Eloise Walker, secretary; Kenneth Nissley, treasurer; LaVonne Frandson, social commissioner; Al Pickhardt, commissioner of forensics; Bill Greschner, commissioner of men's athletics; Velma Kuchel, commissioner of women's athletics; Bob Swanson, commissioner of El Don, and Tay Riggs, commissioner of Del Ano.

Director D. K. Hammond has acted as faculty advisor.

Dismisses Suit Against Boxer

LOS ANGELES. (AP) — Judge Leslie Still yesterday dismissed the $125,000 heart balm suit of Norine Crowder, 20, against Ceferino Garcia, Filipino boxer.

The girl charged that Garcia betrayed her and refused to marry her. Under cross-examination, Miss Crowder admitted that the boxer had paid her $10 weekly over a long period of time.

Judge Still, in dismissing the suit, said it "verged on legalized blackmail."

SAN FRANCISCO. (AP)—Sixteen high schools in the Ninth corps area have been named honor high schools by the United States army.

Recognition was extended because of high standards of military training and discipline.

The schools, named at Ninth corps area headquarters here, included: Fairfax High school, Los Angeles; Galileo High school, San Francisco; Hollywood High school, Los Angeles; Manual Arts High school, Los Angeles; Oakland high school, Oakland; Polytechnic High school, San Francisco, Polytechnic High school and Junior college, Riverside; Santa Barbara High school, Santa Barbara; Technical High school, Oakland; University High school, Oakland.

S. F. GRAND JURY IS ACCUSED

SAN FRANCISCO. (AP)—Counsel for bail bond broker Peter McDonough, resisting a contempt citation in San Francisco's police graft inquiry, yesterday charged the investigating grand jury was itself "compounding a felony."

The attorney, John Taaffe, appearing in court with his client, hurled the charge in defense of McDonough's refusal to answer questions before the grand jury.

Taaffe declared the tapped telephone evidence, on which McDonough was questioned, was "unlawful conspiracy and a felony." He asserted that members of the grand jury "lending themselves to questioning on evidence so gained," were "in the position of compounding a felony."

U. S. IS IN RED MORE THAN 2 BILLION

WASHINGTON. (AP)—The treasury said today it ended the first 11 months of this fiscal year $2,377,264,019 in the red.

Eliminating provision for debt retirement, the net deficit stood at $2,275,519,219. For the entire fiscal year ending June 30, President Roosevelt forecast a net deficit of $2,557,000,000.

Aggregate receipts for the 11-month period were $4,426,140,342.

Expenditures for the 11 months totaled $6,803,404,361. For the entire year, outlays are estimated at $7,781,000,000.

At the end of May, the treasury said gold holdings stood at a new $11,989,258,268 record high, having increased $757,934,558 since the first of the year, due principally to an undiminished inflow from abroad.

'SKY-SLEEPER' IS INAUGURATED

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—A shift in emphasis from speed to comfort in air transportation was stressed by T. W. A. officials yesterday as the first flight of the newly inaugurated "sky-sleeper" service arrived from New York.

Soaring away from Newark airport at 6 p. m. (Eastern daylight time) Tuesday, when New York's business day had ended, the big Douglas plane arrived at Burbank airport exactly on schedule at 7:05 (P. S. T.) yesterday morning, before the business day here had begun.

Line officials pointed out that the sky-sleeper is the first transport in use in the United States to offer a combination of berths, for those making the entire trip, and a separate lounge compartment, with reclining chairs, for travelers getting on or off at the intermediate stops — Columbus, Kansas City and Albuquerque.

Although the United States has a population almost three times as large as Great Britain, our income tax brings in about $150,000,000 less annually.

WEATHER AIDS CITRUS CROP

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—The cool, cloudy weather of the past few weeks has aided citrus growers, Kenneth L. Wolf, chief deputy agricultural commissioner of Los Angeles, said today.

"Citrus growers always welcome cool weather at the beginning of the irrigation season," said Wolff. "It keeps the cover crops and the soil from drying out, and so conserves irrigation water.

"The hay and strawberry crops, both of which might be damaged by rain at this time of year, have not been moistened enough to be harmed, our field observers report."

Times to Acquire Dana Point Lots

Times-Mirror company of Los Angeles, holder of a large number of improvement bonds against Dana Point property, soon will acquire 25 or more lots in that section, it was learned today.

County Treasurer T. E. Stephenson has delivered five deeds to the company in cases in which legal notice of the step had been given to delinquent property owners.

Because owners are scattered over the United States, and even foreign countries, service of notice has been impossible in many cases, and the company probably will proceed during June with quiet title actions in superior court, it was indicated.

END OF MEXICO STRIKE SOUGHT

MEXICO CITY. (AP)—President Lazaro Cardenas sought a prompt settlement today of Mexico's nation-wide strike of 18,000 oil workers which threatened to spread into a general walkout in all industry.

Julio Ramirez, secretary of the General Confederation of Workers, demanded the general strike to force immediate victory for the oil workers who are demanding increased wages and improved working conditions. The president received a complete report from the head of the department of labor and then went into conference with representatives of the $400,000,000 oil industry.

A spokeman for the representatives said the president had promised to tell workers' delegates that the operators considered the demands for a daily wage of $1.62, 30-day vacations, a 40-hour week and pensions financially impossible to meet.

QUARANTINE ON DOGS BALKED

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Four dissenting votes in the city council blocked immediate acceptance yesterday of an emergency ordinance calling for a 90-day quarantine on dogs in Los Angeles because of an outbreak of rabies.

An emergency ordinance requires at least 12 votes. The action is now put over for one week.

Dr. George Parrish, head of the city health department, reported there have been 318 cases of bites by rabies-infected dogs here this year.

ASK HULL TO CURB ITALY, GERMANY

WASHINGTON.— Four members of the house of representatives asked Secretary Hull yesterday to invoke the neutrality act against Germany and Italy and proclaim them at war with Spain.

The spokesman for the group, Representative O'Connell (Dem., Mont.), said the secretary of state listened and assured them the department was considering all phases of the situation.

He reminded them, however, O'Connell said, that the United States must move caustiously. The secretary, he added, generally was noncommittal when pressed for a definite statement on possible extension of the neutrality law to Italy and Germany.

Earlier Hull went over the European situation with President Roosevelt at a conference in the White House.

Authoritative sources indicated later that no new policies had been formulated.

Undersecretary Sumner Welles and Norman H. Davis, American ambassador at large, also attended the conference.

U. S. ORDERS 85 MORE PLANES

WASHINGTON. (AP)—The war department has awarded a $2,372,255 contract to North American Aviation, Inc., of Inglewood, Calif., for 85 basic combat airplanes and for spare parts equivalent to 10 additional ships.

The planes are to be used for auxiliary training and observation purposes.

The order calls for planes of a long wing, cabin monoplane type with retractable landing gear, and powered by a Pratt & Whitney single row radial 450-horsepower engine.

JOE'S SUPER MARKET SECTION

VOL. 3, NO. 29 — SANTA ANA, ORANGE COUNTY, CALIFORNIA, THURSDAY, JUNE 3, 1937 — 3 CENTS PER COPY, 65 CENTS PER MONTH

JOE'S SUPER-MARKET WILL LAUNCH TEN-DAY SALE TOMORROW

WILL CLIMAX SERVICE OF 17 YEARS

Rapid Growth Of Store In Grand Central Is Outlined Today

Seventeen years of successful merchandise in the grocery field will be climaxed with the start of Joe's anniversary sale tomorrow morning.

Joe Hershiser, proprietor of Joe's Super market, located at Broadway and Second streets, will stage a 10-day sale that will make grocery, meat and produce history in this region, he announced.

Joe's Super market, as it is today, is the result of years of experience on the part of Hershiser. He moved into the Grand Central market when it was first opened, operating a small store in the corner of the building.

Large Floor Space

Today the market has a floor space of more than 11,250 square feet, with a basement under the entire store. His location fronts 75 feet on Broadway and 75 feet on Second street.

The store represents a total investment of more than $25,000, Joe said. This includes the fixtures, space and full stock that is always kept on hand for the many persons who purchase all their grocery needs at Joe's.

A large parking lot for the exclusive use of patrons is maintained by Joe's organization. It is located on First street between Broadway and Birch and has space for more than 60 cars. It has an alley entrance as well as the one on the street.

Service Stressed

Service is the key word of Joe's Super market. All the clerks are young men near 25 years of age. They work only a five-day 48-hour week, and are thus able to offer the customer better service and more courteous treatment. The organization is entirely home-owned, Joe said, and all the clerks make their homes here.

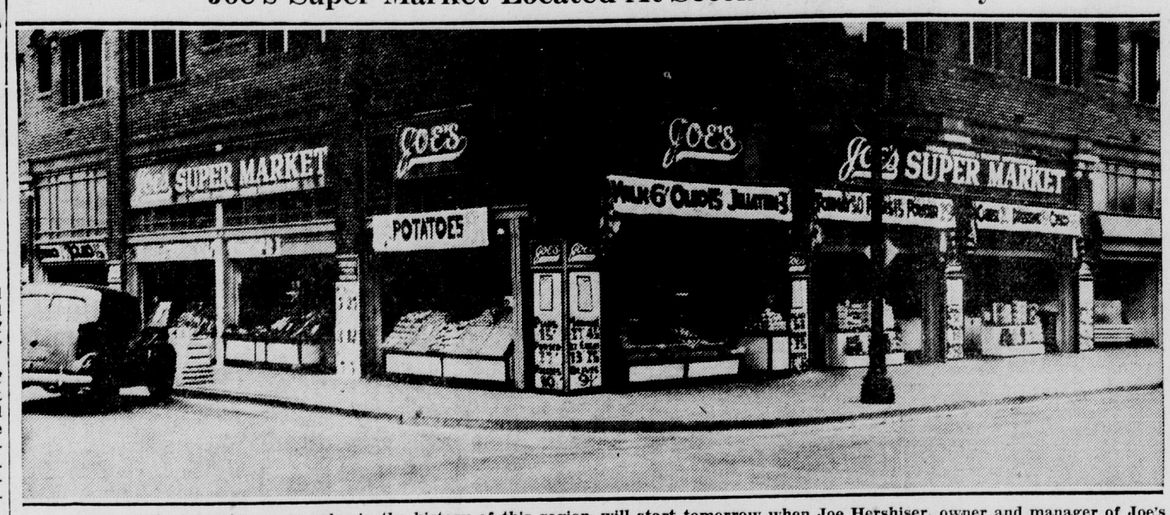
Joe cooperates with more than 500 other retail grocery outlets in his purchases of goods for retail sale. They have formed into an organization known as Certified Grocers Inc., a cooperative organization that buys in wholesale carload lots from manufacturers for their members. Thus the middleman's profit is eliminated and the profits are passed right on to the consumer.

Low Profit Margin

Joe operates on a small margin of profit, and shares in the expenses of Certified. They maintain a fleet of trucks that ship quality merchandise from the central Los Angeles warehouse.

Carload after carload of special merchandise has been shipped to Santa Ana for this anniversary event, Joe indicated, and the sale will last for 10 full days. This will mean 10 days of buying values for the housewives of this area as Joe is planning the greatest array of values in the history of his organization.

Joe's Super-Market Located At Second And Broadway



One of the largest grocery sales in the history of this region will start tomorrow when Joe Hershiser, owner and manager of Joe's Super market opens his doors for a big 10-day sale in honor of 17 years of business in this area. Joe started this market as a small store in the corner of the Grand Central market back in 1924 and has been enlarging it ever since.

Sells Vegetables

W. R. CROWTHER

Buying all possible fruits and vegetables from local growers has been the consistent policy of W. R. Crowther, owner and manager of the produce department in Joe's Super market.

Crowther, a resident of this region for more than a score of years, employs six men in his produce business.

He pointed out that one reason for the consistently low prices that he offers in the fruit and vegetable business is the fact that he owns and operates a truck that goes to the Los Angeles produce markets every morning, obtaining all the market goods he is not able to purchase locally.

The tremendous volume of Crowther's Produce market is the reason that he can offer such a low price on all goods sold.

Crowther has always sold the freshest fruits and vegetables in Santa Ana, his huge volume making this possible, it was indicated.

In an effort to meet the demands of a discriminating public, Crowther is featuring at the present time cantaloupes, berries, cucumbers and all other types of fruits and vegetables found on the retail market now.

Kleptomaniac Plea Is Denied

His claim to being a kleptomaniac denied by county hospital physicians, 18-year-old Clayton Ricke went to the county jail yesterday for a month.

Justice Kenneth Morrison suspended five months of a six-month sentence on petty theft charges. Ricke, arrested by police after a watch was stolen from the rest room of a downtown garage, claimed he "just couldn't help stealing things sometimes." Physicians reported to the court, however, that Ricke was mentally normal.

Two Drivers Are Hurt in Collision

Two drivers were slightly injured in an auto collision Tuesday at Placentia and Victoria avenues, Costa Mesa, according to a report filed with the highway patrol.

W. R. Hume, 67, and J. D. Crawford, 60, both of Costa Mesa, were taken to a physician for treatment after their cars collided.

25 YOUNG MEN AT MARKET

Service is the key word in the organization of Joe's Super market here.

Today there are 25 young men to wait on and assist the shopper. These employes are all young and courteous, Joe said, and are trained to give the best service obtainable to the patrons.

The organization is entirely home-owned, Joe pointed out, and all employes are local men.

"All our interests are in Santa Ana and Orange county," he continued, "and we push the products of this region. We are doing all we can to make Orange county and Santa Ana prosperous by offering quality groceries at the lowest prices in this area. We will not be undersold."

BAN DECLARED ON MUSSELS

Beware of mussels this summer!

Dr. K. H. Sutherland, county health officer, today warned Orange county residents that, although Orange county is not covered by the state quarantine on mussels, they may prove poisonous.

The state board of health has issued a quarantine order covering the coast from the Oregon state line to the south boundary of Los Angeles county. It prohibits taking or selling mussels from June 1 to Sept. 30.

"In certain areas," Dr. Sutherland said, "mussels are very poisonous, and a small amount of this poison is fatal."

He said it is hard to set boundaries and say that mussels are safe on one side and dangerous on the other. He urged great care in the use of mussels.

More Air Mail Miles Are Voted

WASHINGTON. (AP)—The house passed and sent to the senate yesterday legislation authorizing 3000 additional miles of air mail routes. The miles flown over air mail routes annually would be increased from 45,000,000 to 52,000,000.

Chairman Mead (D., N. Y.) of the postoffice committee said the postoffice department had approximately $250,000 available for extensions and additional schedules on existing routes. Present air mail routes aggregate 32,000 miles.

Owns Meat Market

HAROLD NELSON

Harold Nelson, manager of the Annex Meat market, has been in the retail meat business here for the past 15 years.

Nelson, who resides at 2327 Bonnie Brae, has owned and operated the market in Joe's Super grocery for the past four years

All new refrigeration has been installed in Nelson's market, and new display cases will facilitate display of the choice meats he offers.

"Our business has been built on a consistent policy of highest quality combined with the lowest prices possible," Nelson said. "We will offer even better prices during Joe's sale."

"During the duration of the sale we will feature choice cuts of the best meats at the lowest prices we have ever advertised. We have purchased an entire carload of special meats for this great event, and they will go on sale as soon as the sale starts," he continued.

Nelson is recognized as one of the best meat cutters and butchers in Santa Ana, and demands that all his employes be equally familiar with the business. Years of training in the retail meat business are back of Nelson and the men who work for him.

Plan New High Speed Locomotive

CHICAGO. (AP)—President M. W. Clement announced that the Pennsylvania Railroad soon would place in service a new type of steam locomotive capable of hauling a 14-car passenger train at a sustained speed of 100 miles an hour.

The new high speed, streamlined locomotive, already designed, is the incorporation of four cylinders instead of the customary two.

48 HOUR WEEK FOR CLERKS

The 25 trained and efficient clerks that are employed at Joe's Super market, all work a five-day, 48-hour week, it was disclosed here this afternoon.

Joe Hershiser, owner and manager of the spacious market, said he felt his patrons would get better service from young men that worked only a 48-hour week. This is all in line with his policy of service and quality at the lowest prices, he said.

"This method of employment has worked out very satisfactorily as far as we are concerned," Joe said. "The clerks are more alert and courteous and can give the customer more real help with their grocery purchases."

SHOPPERS USE HUGE FREE AUTO LOT

In keeping with the policy of Joe's Grocery to offer all possible services to its patrons, a huge parking lot facing on First street has been operating for the past year.

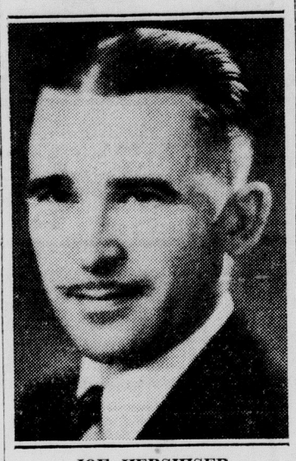
This lot has an entrance on the alley between First and Second streets, thus making double entrances and exits.

The lot will hold more than 60 cars at one time, Joe said, and is for the constant use of his patrons. Persons holding a purchase slip from Joe's Super market may park in the smooth graveled lot for one hour.

FATHER INJURED

Lee Maxwell, 412 South Birch street, was summoned to the Arlington hospital Tuesday night when police there reported his father had been injured in an auto crash near that city. Arlington officers telephoned police here, who notified Maxwell.

Market Owner



JOE HERSHISER

Representing a total investment of more than $25,000, Joe's Super market has always had the lowest grocery prices in this region, it was indicated here today.

Joe Hershiser, owner and manager of the store, has been in business here for the past 17 years.

Joe has more than 11,250 feet of floor space in his store. The store fronts 75 feet on Broadway and 75 feet on Second street. He has a basement under the entire store that is used for storage space.

His investment in the store includes fixtures, space, and the total stock that is always kept on his shelves to fill the big demand for quality groceries at the lowest prices offered anywhere in Southern California.

JOINT BUYING IS SECRET OF BARGAINS

Cooperative Wholesalers Furnish Merchandise At Lowest Cost

Cooperation between more than 500 retail grocery outlets is what helps Joe's Super market maintain its consistent policy of low prices.

Joe is a member of Certified Grocers Inc., a cooperative wholesale buying organization, which does much of the buying for Joe's Super market.

Certified Grocers Inc. is owned by the members who purchase through its wholesale buying facilities. A central warehouse is located in Los Angeles, and all grocery shipments come through the organization's buying office. Truckload after truckload of special merchandise has been shipped to Santa Ana for Joe's gigantic sale.

The feature of Certified that makes it unique is that it buys from manufacturers in wholesale carload lots and sells to its members without any profit whatsoever. The members share in expenses of running the organization. Certified eliminates the middle man and the full profits are passed right on to the ultimate consumer, Joe said.

If an item can be purchased for less than Joe's price, Joe will lower his price to meet competition, he said.

These Thirteen Trucks Bring Low Prices To Patrons Of Joe's

Far from being unlucky, this fleet of 13 sleek motor vans bring low prices on quality merchandise to patrons of Joe's Super market. The trucks operate for Certified Grocers Inc., a cooperative buying organization that purchases merchandise for its more than 500 members in wholesale lots and then sells it to the members at no profit. The middleman is eliminated and the profit passed right on to the consumer in the form of lower prices for goods.

Construction Firm Blamed for Death

The C. O. Sparks Construction company, builder of the Imperial highway, yesterday stood blamed for the death of Walter Clement, 51-year-old employe, in a truck collision last Thursday.

Jack Powers, 34, Orange, driver of the truck with which Clement's truck collided on Rose drive near Yorba Linda, also was blamed by the jury at an inquest Tuesday afternoon.

Failure of the company to keep its equipment in proper condition was cited by the jury after it had been brought out that brakes on the trucks were not in proper working order.

Boys from Germany have joined with those from England in a camp at West Lavington, England.

DRIVER HELD IN BUS COLLISION

SAN DIEGO. (AP)—A. F. Storrs, 29, of Los Angeles, driver of a Pacific Greyhound bus, which collided with an oil truck near Del Mar Tuesday, was arraigned on a charge of negligent homicide before Township Justice Phil Smith yesterday.

Two sailors were killed and 21 other men injured in the crash.

Bail for Storrs was set at $1000 and a preliminary hearing set for June 24.

The Texas public safety department, armed with a new anti-narcotics law, is out to rid Texas of the unsavory label of the "worst narcotics state."

School Principal Sued For $10,000

FRESNO. (AP)—F. P. McCasland filed suit on behalf of his son, Fred McCasland, 13, against J. D. Cosner, principal of the Kerman grammar school and the Kerman grammar school district, for $10,000 for injuries he claims were sustained when Cosner kicked the boy with his knee during a school play period.

DENIES GUILT

Charles M. Marks, Santa Ana pawn shop proprietor, yesterday pleaded not guilty to violating a state pawn shop law and heard trial set for June 15 before Justice Kenneth Morrison. Marks was accused of not keeping in his possession for a year a watch pledged at his shop. He is free on his own recognizance. Attorney Otto Jacobs represents him.

FIX DEATH DATE FOR SLAYER

RIVERSIDE. (AP) — Superior Judge Oakley K. Morton has set July 9 as the day John D. McNeill, former Temecula deputy constable, must hang for beating his wife to death with a casting machine clothes wringer last August.

The action was taken after the court received a certificate from the state supreme court upholding the jury's verdict finding McNeill guilty of murder in the first degree.

PLAN SPEEDY TAX-DODGE INQUIRY

Congressional Chiefs Map Program To Act On 'Evil Practice'

WASHINGTON. (AP) — Congressional leaders completed arrangements today for a speedy start—possibly late next week—of an inquiry into what President Roosevelt termed the "evil practices" of tax dodging.

Chairman Harrison (D., Miss.) of the senate finance committee said wealthy men and women referred to in the President's message would be given an opportunity to testify if their names are disclosed.

The preparations went forward even before the house voted on a resolution to appoint six senators and six representatives to conduct the inquiry.

To Have Hearings

The senate adopted the resolution Tuesday shortly after the President's recommendations for plugging gaps in the tax laws were read. After the house acts and the committee organizes, it can begin hearings.

Many congressmen expressed certainty the inquiry would bring out the names of wealthy taxpayers described in the President's message as having avoided or reduced tax payments by such devices as incorporating racing stables, yachts and country estates.

The inquiry will serve two purposes: to focus public attention on the extent of alleged tax evasion and to supply congress with information essential to the drafting of corrective legislation.

Treasury officials have said they hope to collect more than $100,000,000 in taxes through tightening of the tax laws.

The campaign may bring revenues close to government expenditures next year, officials predicted.

Hits Eight Frauds

Senator Robinson, the Democratic leader, said the legislation which Mr. Roosevelt desires "to empower the government to stop these evil practices" might be formulated within a month.

(The legislation recommended by the President would prevent eight types of "moral fraud" in creating foreign personal holding companies, multiple trusts or partnerships for relatives, and the like. It also would correct three provisions of existing law: Percentage depletion by which oil and mining companies are entitled to deduct for depletion of their mines or wells; division of income between huband and wife in the eight community property states; and taxation of non-resident aliens.)

JAYSEE FACULTY PAIR HONORED

Two faculty members of Santa Ana Junior college were formally initiated into Pi Beta Phi, French honorary society at the University of Southern California, this week. They were Miss Lella B. Watson, head of the college language department, and Thomas H. Glenn, head of the English department. Mrs. Glenn was also initiated.

The three were taken in as honorary members of the U. S. C. chapter. Only those people in universities and colleges who are outstanding in French are admitted.

Mrs. Glenn has taught at the University of Southern California. She is scheduled to be instructor in French at Mills college during the summer months.

Glenn is now working for his Ph.D. degree in English. He has just passed his preliminary examination at U. S. C. for the degree.

The initiation was held at the home of Dr. Bissell in Hollywood. Approximately 200 people attended the reception. The Los Angeles French consul, M. Viala, also attended.

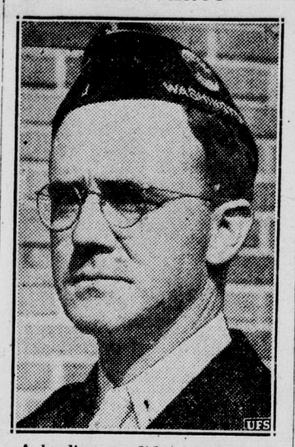
Standard Oil To Defend Action

NEW YORK. (AP)—The Standard Oil Company of Indiana has filed a notice of appearance to defend an anti-trust action brought by Louis Blaustein, president of the Pan-American Petroleum and Transport company, his son, Jacob, and others, it was disclosed in supreme court yesterday.

The action of the Indiana company submits it to jurisdiction of the court in this suit, after Supreme Court Justice Charles S. McLaughlin earlier had eliminated the company as a co-defendant on the ground that state courts lacked jurisdiction.

The suit grew out of the Standard's acquisition of the control of Pan-American.

Candidate



A leading candidate seeking the post of national commander of the American Legion is Stephen Chadwick of Seattle, Wash., shown above. The position will be filled at the national convention in New York City, Sept. 20-23. He served with the 27th Infantry in Siberia.

SHOOTS WIFE AND KILLS HIMSELF

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Joseph C. Duarte, 55, special deputy sheriff and scion of an old Southern California family for which the town of Duarte east of here was named, was shot dead and his wife critically wounded during a domestic quarrel in their home here.

Investigating officers said Virgil Westbrook, 18-year-old daughter of Mrs. Duarte, told them Duarte shot himself after wounding his wife. Miss Westbrook said she tore the automatic pistol from her step-father's hand after he shot her mother, but he recovered it, fired a second bullet into his wife's head and then rushed to another room and ended his life.

Mrs. Edith Duarte, the wounded wife, is 36 years of age and wed Duarte two years ago. Her daughter said Duarte was extremely jealous.

FORUM TO HEAR ADVENTURER

Members of the junior forum class at Santa Ana Junior college will hear an address by Dave Wynn, young traveler, tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 in college hall. The public is invited.

Wynn, at present a studio technician in Hollywood who was connected with Irving Thalberg before his death, will describe his adventures of his experiences in Central Asia.

He crossed Central Asia by himself, went down through Afghanistan and into India—a trek which no other white individual has ever performed. He was a guest for two months of the Rajah of Tanjore, and was hired by Ambassador Bullitt in Moscow for special services.

Through the efforts of Carl Blaylock, jaysee student, the 25-year-old traveler was secured for Calvin C. Flint's class.

SEX LECTURER IS JAILED BY U. S.

COLUSA. (AP)—Daniel J. Fendell, lecturer of sex subjects, was turned over to department of justice officials here for prosecution on a charge of impersonating a federal officer.

Department of justice officers said Fendell toured the country representing himself as Major Fendell, giving free lectures and selling copies of a book entitled, "Light on Life."

A woman companion who gave a separate series of lectures "for women only" left town immediately after Fendell's arrest. Arresting officers here said Fendell's headquarters were in Pasadena.

Woman Envoy Is Off To Norway

NEW YORK. (AP)—Mrs. J. Borden (Daisy) Harriman sailed yesterday for her post as United States minister to Norway.

The new minister said she hoped she would be "as much credit to my country as was Mrs. Bryan Owen," minister to Denmark and first woman appointed to such a post.

Her daughter, Mrs. Harriman Russell of Beverly Hills, was at the boat to see her off.

Wheat has been planted on 32,167,000 acres in India this year, and a good crop is expected.

Man Defeated for City Job Is Denied Citizenship

SANTA CRUZ. (AP)—Orville L. Webster, jr., former city commissioner here, must learn more about the American government before he can become an American citizen.

Naturalization Examiner Paul Armstrong and Superior Judge James L. Attridge said Webster's knowledge of government was not enough to justify issuance of final papers at this time. He will be given another examination Dec. 8.

The U. S. Immigration bureau ruled some time ago that Webster was a Canadian because he moved to Canada while under age. His father subsequently became a British subject.

Webster was defeated for re-election as city commissioner last month. He insisted throughout the campaign that his American citizenship was valid.

Santa Ana Is Warned Against Parking Meters

COUNCILMEN DENY PLAN TO ACT

Taft Newspaper Says Use Of Device Is Disastrous

A solemn and impressive warning against parking meters, based on current experience, was sent to Santa Ana today from Taft, Calif.

The warning came here just as city council members were debating the wisdom of installing 300 parking meters in the downtown business section "on trial."

Reports published in another newspaper yesterday afternoon to the effect that the city council will authorize installation of the 300 parking meters next Monday were false, members of the council said today.

No Action Taken

It was pointed out by Mayor Fred C. Rowland that the parking meter proposition was submitted to the council as a committee of the whole at the last meeting, and that no meeting on the subject has been held. Councilmen Joseph P. Smith, Ernest H. Layton and Plummer Bruns also said they have heard nothing of the council planning to authorize installation of the parking meters next Monday. They indicated that the council is not yet ready to decide the problem.

The parking meter problem here is extremely controversial. A survey made by the retail division of the chamber of commerce showed two-thirds of downtown merchants against the meters. A petition with 78 signatures was submitted to the council, favoring the meters.

The warning from Taft was sent to the chamber of commerce here. Stories and editorials in a Taft newspaper showed how disastrous the situation has become there, where meters have been installed. Here's what one story says:

Silent Sentinels

"Curb parking meters remain on Taft streets as silent sentinels or brave soldiers in solid ranks telling prospective customers of the merchants that they shall not park without paying tribute—and the customers do not park and do not buy in Taft.

"In fact, as if by some tacit agreement, and it may be more real than that, they stay away from the downtown section and partial paralysis creeps steadily along the streets and extends out into other streets, for when buyers do not come to town they do not spread about and buy at places other than those on Center street."

And a front-page editorial says this: "First of all, the business men of Taft should not be blamed, for almost as a unit they have opposed the nickel grabbers. They were not consulted before the city council acted. They immediately voiced their disapproval when they learned that the meters had been contracted for. The business men opposed the meters at that time, they oppose them now, and they will continue to oppose them.

Urges Meter Ban

"Therefore, 15,000 residents of the west side should not punish Taft business men by withholding their patronage. Friendly relations of the past, extending over many years, should prompt them to cooperate with the business men in getting rid of the meters, in whatever lawful way this may be accomplished. And there are several ways.

"Where the councilmen who voted for the meters erred, in our opinion, was when they failed to consider all angles of the local conditions, failed to take the problem up fully with the business men themselves, and allowed supersalesmanship to tie them up with a 90-day contract.

"In 90 days, because of the falling off in trade, a score or more of the smaller business houses may be forced out of business. And even some of the larger concerns, because of their loss of trade, may see fit to close shop also.

"If they (parking meters) are not taken out, until the end of the 90-day period, and the effect of what they have done to the business men of Taft is broadcast, it is reasonable to believe no community of a similar population in California would even give the meters a trial.'

Bakersfield Favorable

Chief of Police Floyd W. Howard of Santa Ana, who favors giving the parking meters a trial, just returned yesterday afternoon from Bakersfield where he made a survey of the parking meter situation. On his return here he said a majority of the merchants in Bakersfield favor the meters, including many that opposed them before they were installed.

Howard also has a report from the Long Beach Chamber of Commerce, which said that 82.4 per cent of merchants in that city contacted favor the meters, 14.9 per cent are against them, and 3.1 per cent would not say how they felt.

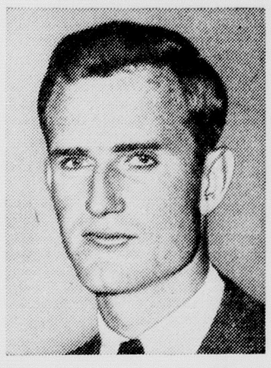
A month after the parking meters were installed, it was said, a 19.33 per cent response from downtown merchants showed 5.5 to one in favor of meters. In the entire city the sentiment is about five to one in favor of them, he said.

SEEKS ALLOWANCE

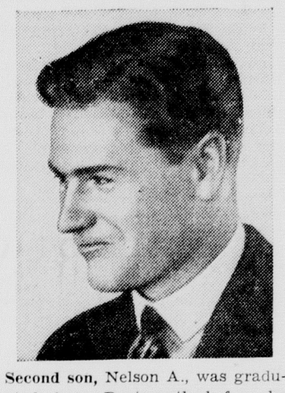
Mrs. Jane Fair Forester of Santa Ana yesterday asked superior court here to award her a monthly allowance of $75 from the $10,000 estate of her late husband, George W. Forester. Mrs. Forester is administrator of the estate.

SON AND SON'S SONS CARRY ON FOR JOHN D.

John D. Rockefeller, jr., at 63 is titular head of the empire whose rule he took over years ago. Like his late father, who entrusted him with responsibilities at an early age, John D., jr., does not rule alone but carries on with the aid of his sons.



Eldest son, 31-year-old John D., III, joined his father in the administration of their business and philanthropic interests after graduation from Princeton. John, who is married and has a daughter, is a trustee of the Rockefeller foundation.



Second son, Nelson A., was graduated from Dartmouth before he moved in to a trusteeship and partial responsibility for running such enterprises as the cluster of skyscrapers known as Rockefeller Center. He has three children.

Third son, Laurance S., is another Princeton man. Like his two elder brothers, he lends a hand to dad from an office in Rockefeller headquarters on the 56th floor of the RCA building in Rockefeller Center. He is married and has a daughter.

Fourth son, Winthrop, who went to Yale, is the only son to choose oil, in which the family fortune was made, for a career. Winthrop and a fifth son, David, at Harvard, are unmarried. A daughter, Abby, now Mrs. David Milton, is the eldest child.

More Readers Give Praise To Enlarged Journal

The Journal isn't only better because of its many new features, but it's bigger and better all around—just generally a more readable paper, according to today's comments.

Mrs. E. E. Frisby of 1012 Kilson drive says she can't pick out any particular favorites, because she enjoys them all. Of course, woman-like, she much prefers the society pages to the sports section, but that's only because of her training, not its merits, she says. But the Frisby family is certainly glad to see The Journal putting out such a good-sized paper!

More Features

Mrs. H. L. Boyer of 1420 North Broadway has always liked The Journal best—that's why she takes it! And now she's doubly glad, she says, because she gets more enjoyable features in addition to all the news there is.

George Walker is immensely pleased to see the two full sports pages every day—because that's what men really like and want to read about (plus the funnies and Bob Burns). But he's worried because when they were doubling all the other features, The Journal didn't double Skinny's column!

Going Ahead Fast

With a lavish sweep of his hand, Joseph P. Smith expressed complete approbation of The Journal's enlarged size and coverage. "It's a fine paper and going ahead fast!" he said.

Mrs. R. C. Harris is another who doesn't have any special preference—she just realizes, she says, that The Journal has the news and features she wants to read, and she enjoys them very much. She notices great improvement all along in every angle—and oh yes! she does like the society pages—particularly the chat-column about people.

TANNENBAUM GIVEN NEW HONORS

A new honor has been given Robert Tannenbaum, former Santa Ana junior college student and well known local youth, it was learned today.

He has been appointed as a research fellow in the school of business, University of Chicago, it was announced by officials of the college.

Tannenbaum, who was prominent in many college activities while enrolled in the local junior college, has been attending the University of Chicago for the past two years. He will receive his A. B. degree on June 11.

It was learned that Tannenbaum expects to remain at the university this summer, when his fellowship will begin. Under terms of the research appointment he will devote one-fourth of his time during the coming year to research under the supervision of a member of the school of business faculty.

He will vacation in Santa Ana next fall from September to December. Tannenbaum is a former junior college Associated Student president.

Church Takes Stand on War

COLUMBUS, Ohio. (AP)—The general assembly of the Presbyterian church in the U. S. A. instructed a committee late yesterday to draft an amendment to its confession of faith which would renounce war as a "method of settling international disputes." The amendment, while expressing the church's opposition to war, would allow its communicants to determine for themselves the right or wrong of armed conflict.

Lester No. 1 Plans Jail for Lester No. 2

William F. Lester of Riverside may have the same surname as Justice of the Peace Cal Lester in Orange, but if the judge ever catches his namesake, it's going to mean jail for the 20-year-old truck driver.

Lester No. 1 was arrested May 1 for assertedly speeding 60 miles an hour in Santa Ana canyon and cited to appear before Lester No. 2. He didn't show up, so Lester No. 2 issued a warrant for No. 1's arrest and he was haled into Orange justice court.

Lester No. 1 pleaded not guilty and his trial was set for May 28 and No. 2 released him on $50 bail. Again he failed to appear and now his bond is forfeited.

And, if No. 2 ever catches No. 1, it's going to be too bad!

ARCHDUKE GETS A DIVORCE

BUDAPEST. (AP)—The Hapsburg Archduke Albrecht, 40, pretender to the vacant Hungarian throne, obtained a civil divorce yesterday from his beautiful commoner wife, Irene Lelbach, opening the way for possible renewed agitation to place the archduke on the throne.

They were married secretly at Brighton, England, in 1930.

Monarchist supporters of the popular Albrecht asserted that access to the throne would be easier for him if he were unencumbered by a commoner wife. Many Hungarian monarchists prefer Albrecht to the Archduke Otto, pretender to the Austrian throne which was united with Hungary in the pre-war Austro-Hungarian empire.

CHILDREN TO GET SCHOOL CHECK-UP

Schedule Is Announced For Health Tests In Orange County

Dates for pre-school examinations for Orange county children during the next two weeks were announced today by Dr. K. H. Sutherland, county health officer.

The examinations are part of the summer roundup conducted by Parent-Teacher associations and the county health department to check the health of children who will be entering school for the first time next fall.

In many instances it is possible to detect deficiencies in time to correct them during the summer so that they will not handicap children in their school work, Dr. Sutherland said.

An examination was in progress this morning at Jefferson school, Santa Ana. Others are scheduled for tomorrow morning at Lincoln school in Garden Grove and tomorrow afternoon at Seal Beach elementary school. Following is the schedule for other clinics:

Friday: Mexican children at Huntington Beach, 9 a. m.; San Juan Capistrano, 1:30 p. m.; Spurgeon school, Santa Ana, 9 a. m.

Mrs. R. A. McMahon Installed President of Woman's Club at Annual Picnic

Rustic Cabin On Hilltop Is Setting

Past County Officer Conducts Program After Luncheon

Scarcely any setting more beautiful could have been found for yesterday's gathering of Santa Ana Woman's club members than the rustic cabin of the Izaak Walton club on that hilltop in Hillcrest park, Fullerton, overlooking one of Orange county's lovely valleys, where more than fifty members and friends gathered for a picnic luncheon.

The occasion was the annual picnic and annual installation of officers of the organization, and the day was marked by many delightful features in addition to the installing ceremonies and the bright sunshine.

Gathering at 10 o'clock in the morning, the members spent the hours before luncheon hearing annual reports of officers, chairmen and section leaders. Mrs. F. A. Martin, the retiring president, presided.

Bright red geranium blossoms with their own green leaves made colorful lines down the centers of the four long tables on which the bountiful pot-luck luncheon was arranged by Mrs. G. V. Linsenbard, chairman, and members of her committee—Mesdames Hal Noel, A. Borchard, J. D. Watkins, Minnie M. Collins, and E. M. Waycott.

Calling of the roll, dispensed with at most of the meetings, was a feature of the afternoon when the meeting was again called to order by Mrs. Martin.

Program Presented

Mrs. Harry Brackett, who had arranged the program for the day, opened the numbers with two vocal selections by herself, "My Heart Is a Haven," by Steinbach, and "Without You," by Oteo, accompanied by Miss Lenora Tompkins. Miss Tompkins also played one piano solo, "Venitienne," by Godard.

To the poetry section of the club goes credit for the second half of the program, in which Mrs. Earl Ladd, new secretary of that section, read selected poems written by the group members. Authors of those read, introduced after each reading, were Mrs. Brackett, Mrs. Artie Warner, Mrs. Margaret Church, Mrs. Minnie Collins, section leader, and Mrs. Ladd.

Before the installation, which was conducted by Mrs. A. P. Nelson, former Orange County Federation president and an honorary member of the Woman's club, Mrs. Martin presented a gift to each of her retiring officers, who are as follows:

Vice-president, Mrs. R. A. McMahon; recording secretary, Miss Linda Kroeker; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Ethel Brown, Treasurer, Mrs. J. F. Jacoby; press chairman, Mrs. E. J. Grothier; parliamentarian, Mrs. James McCracken; historian, Mrs. E. A. Elwell; and federation secretary, Mrs. E. M. Waycott.

Mrs. E. G. Maier, courtesy chairman, presented to Mrs. Martin her past president's pin and Mrs. Elwell also gave her a gift.

Mrs. Nelson Installs

After a few remarks, urging the club to stand strong for federation, as "strength united is stronger," Mrs. Nelson asked each of the retiring officers to install her successor, and a corsage was presented to the new officers as she was assigned her new duties.

Those who will serve the club in official capacities next year are Mrs. McMahon, the new president; Mrs. Fern Tarbox, vice-president; Miss Linda Kroeker, who continues as recording secretary; Mrs. Earl Ladd, corresponding secretary; Mrs. J. F. Jacoby, re-elected treasurer; Mrs. Harry Brackett, press chairman; Mrs. R. G. Carman, partiamentarian; Mrs. W. N. Kuhn, historian; Mrs. Martin, federation secretary.

Mrs. McMahon who gave a short speech of acceptance, was presented with a bouquet of flowers from the club, and announced as her motto for the new year, "Happiness Through Service for Others."

Announcement of section leaders concluded the day. These are Mrs. P. R. Arnold, study, with Mrs. George DeRoulhac as secretary; Mrs. G. V. Linsenbard, philanthropy, with Mrs. Martin as secretary; Mrs. Elwell, home craft, with Mrs. Maier and Mrs. H. M. Kinslow as secretaries; Mrs. Richard Pagett, garden, with Mrs. Waycott as secretary; Mrs. Collins, poetry, with Mrs. Ladd as secretary; Mrs. Pagett, evening socials, with Mrs. L. G. Holman as secretary; Mrs. G. F. Hulse, afternoon socials, with Mrs. C. Hossfield as secretary; Mrs. J. D. Watkins, drama and music, with Mrs. Hulse as secretary.

Mrs. McMahon also announced appointment of Mrs. Watkins as program chairman, and Mrs. Waycott as flower chairman.

The affair was held at Mrs. A. T. Perkins' home at El Modena with Mrs. Sanborn as co-hostess. Mrs. C. W. Rowland invited the group to meet at her home on July 6, at which time she will be assisted by Mrs. A. C. Wiebe.

Dinner Dance Year-End Party

As a conclusion to their year, which has been filled with study and earnest discussions, members of the child study section of Santa Ana Ebell entertained their husbands last night at a semi-formal dinner dance over at the Pacific Coast club in Long Beach.

With Mrs. Chester Horton as chairman for the evening, and Mrs. James Merigold and Mrs. Harold Moomaw as her co-workers, this group of Ebelles proved their talents as gracious hostesses, some entertaining small groups before the dance and all cooperating in making the dance a decided social success.

Twenty-three couples found places at one long and one smaller table in the dining room of the clubhouse, preceding their evening of dancing with a merry hour of dining. A horse racing game drew the attention of the guests after dinner for a short while before they adjourned to the ballroom.

Summer formals made their appearance at this early June dance, which is probably the last of the bigger social affairs this year among the Ebell sections.

Mrs. Chester Horton wore a stunning gown of a gold shade, and among the flower prints noted among the dancers was the lovely chiffon worn by Mrs. John Ebersole.

Mrs. Aubrey Glines' black lace offered delightful contrast to the variety of pastel shades and flower tones which predominated. Of blue dotted Swiss was the dainty formal with bouffant skirt worn by Mrs. Edward Lee Russell. Mrs. Roscoe Conklin was in a deep wine red chiffon; Mrs. Herman Ranney wore a pink embroidered lace with sash of power blue contrasting tone; Mrs. C. H. Hoiles wore a white dress with brightly flowered jacket.

The guest list for the party included the Messrs. and Mesdames James Merigold, A. Van Dyke, Roscoe Conklin, Paul Cannon, John Ebersole, Aubrey Glines, C. H. Hoiles, Thoburn White, A. Peterson of Orange, Earl Elson, Herman Ranney, Harold Moomaw, Hans Wahlberg, A. McKee, Lorin Moore, Bernard Parker, Joe Hershiser, Ira Kruse, and Chester Horton, Dr. and Mrs. Edward Lee Russell, Dr. and Mrs. Perry Davis and Dr. and Mrs. Thomas Rhone of Orange.

BON VOYAGE PARTY GIVEN MISS DOUGLAS

Bon voyage to Miss Effie Douglas, who leaves June 12 for a holiday in Europe via the S. S. Britannica, was wished her by members of her bridge club, the Emanon, when it met this week at the home of Miss Lee Patton, 908 North Sycamore street.

Miss Patton had arranged many little traveling tokens—placecards in the form of suitcases and canoes, specially iced cakes for the dessert course she served, and finally, European mapped tallies.

Miss Mary Smart won the evening's traveling prize, Miss Ella Vezie won first, and Miss Pearl Nicholson won second. At the same time these were presented, the hostess brought in a large sailing vessel, between the sails of which had been tucked many daintily wrapped gifts, handkerchiefs for Miss Douglas.

Guests of Miss Patton were Miss Douglas, Miss Italy Lee, Miss Marie Peterman, Miss Mayme Brightwell, Miss Henrietta Bohling, Miss Alice Wasser, Miss Louise Kiser, Miss Ethel Hedrick, Miss Ella Vezie, Miss Pearl Nicholson and Miss Mary Smart.

Great Ambition Is Not Essential to the Character of Every Person

By MARY STODDARD

What to one person is a nugget, to another is a head of cabbage!

Our Creator intended it to be thus. If we were all interested in the same thing, we would destroy one another to attain it or life would become so monotonous that there would be nothing to spur us on. I don't know of a better way to answer the woman who writes the following letter:

Dear Miss Stoddard: I have no problem of interest to the reading public, perhaps, but a question is troubling me and I do not know where to turn for the answer.

In a recent conversation with a very well educated "in-law," I was given (very tactfully) to understand that I am not making the best of my time and talents because I have no great goal, ideal, or ambition to spur me on to still greater efforts.

I must be little more than a vegetable if I can go complacently on, satisfied and contented with things as they are.

It is true that I am not fretting or struggling to reach something unattainable. What do other women strive so frantically to achieve?

I would like to have more money and leisure, but it is like wishing for the moon, so why keep wishing? Very likely we would receive more damage than good if we had all we desired; who knows?

We are farmers. Husband and I do all the work with only occasional hired help. One son and one daughter are away in colleges and one girl is in high school. They earn all they can and give us no worry.

I feel that I have all that is needed for happiness and that I may not in the future have a more enjoyable life than I have right now.

Why is it spineless to enjoy life as it comes?

We work hard, long hours, it is true . . . But we have no debts, and we DO have a decent, comfortable home and good clothing. We go to church, school affairs, local parties, club meetings, have a radio and read all we have time for.

Why should I want more? My days are more than full now. Can you tell from this letter what is lacking in my make-up?

I am anxious that my family be not ashamed of me. Will you please help?

CONSTANT READER.

You lack only the false veneer of sophisticated living, and that lack puts gain plus on your side. This finish is easily marred and, when it disappears entirely, leaves an ungainly surface more often than not.

Your written letter reflects a neat, intelligent, kindly personality. You are living a full life and it is bringing you rich rewards in contentment and the feeling of well-being. You are the ideal type of wife and mother and if your family is one-half as real as you are they are mighty proud of you.

San Marino, situated in the Apennines near Rimini, in the heart of Italy, claims to have been founded in the fourth century.

PIERIANS AIR THEIR HOBBIES AT THE BEACH

Pierian club members wrote, rather than rode, their hobbies for their meeting Tuesday down at the Balboa Island home of Mrs. J. D. Watkins, where they also elected a new corps of officers for the coming year.

Mrs. Henry W. Guthrie is to be the president for the next 12 months, and she will be assisted by Mrs. Earl Ladd, as vice president, and Mrs. Watkins, as secretary-treasurer.

After their pot-luck luncheon, the members read poems they had written on the subject of "Hobbies," Mrs. Jennie Crawford opening the program with one of her own, entitled "Fancywork," and then reading two sent by Mrs. F. A. Davis of Washington, D. C., and Santa Ana, who is an associate member of the club. Her two were "Pastime" and "Wings."

Mrs. G. W. Bond read her poem called "Playtime"; Mrs. Ladd, one entitled "The Cousin's Visit"; Mrs. Margaret Church, "Two Hobbies"; Mrs. Watkins, "A New Leaf," and Mrs. E. G. Warner, a guest, "Summer," "The Sea at Night" and "Growing Old."

In July the club will have an all-day meeting at the Ladd home to judge poems for a poetry magazine.

ANNIVERSARY OF MAGAZINE IS CELEBRATED

After a morning session of the ladies' aid and a noon luncheon served by the hostesses, Miss Minnie Cowan, Mrs. Martha Miller, Mrs. Carrie Sherrill, and Mrs. John McFadden, the missionary society of the United Presbyterian church was called to order yesterday afternoon by Mrs. Stewart Kennedy.

Since it was the 50th anniversary of the Women's Missionary Society magazine, the program was dedicated to that organ. Mrs. Geraldine Beall had prepared an enlarged magazine which, with the turning of its leaves, announced each number on the program. Others on the committee were Mrs. Roy Kelchner, chairman, Miss Adda Cowan, and Mrs. C. C. Dunbar.

Those participating in the program with contributions were Miss Cowan, Miss Ethel Collins, Mrs. Will McBurney, Mrs. Benjamin Heemstra, Mrs. Roy Kelchner, Mrs. Will Lindsey, Mrs. Grace Anderson, Mrs. A. Klotsky, Mrs. O. S. Johnson, Mrs. W. W. Hay, Miss Jane White and Mrs. Fred Millen.

Mrs. Hay conducted a memorial service, supplemented by a personal tribute to Mrs. Melissa Gilson by Mrs. M. M. Tidball.

MOAVS ELECT OFFICERS

Evelyn Richards was elected president of the Moav service club at the junior college in a noon meeting of the club. She will be supported by Jean McKamy as vice president, Henrietta Campbell as secretary, Donna Baker as treasurer, and Erma Swartz as reporter.

Plans were made for the last meeting of the year, a steak bake at the home of Jean McKamy next Monday night. After the dinner, the club will attend a local theater.

Anniversary Is Nuptial Date

The wedding date June 1 of Miss Wilma Frances Strawn and Maynard Scribner was also the 38th wedding anniversary of the bride's parents, Mr and Mrs. J. N. Strawn of Fullerton, and for that reason the simple rites read by the Rev. Francis E. Hawes Tuesday night had more than usual significance. The Rev. E. Don Hoffman assisted.

The bride wore a white satin frock and carried lovely white roses. Her entrance on the arm of her father was preceded by a pretty candle-lighting ceremony performed by little Virginia Strawn and Joy Scribner, nieces of the couple, and by the entrance of another little niece, Catherine Strawn, who, in pink organdy, strewed the aisle with flowers.

Bridesmaids were Miss Vivian Wertella of Torrance and Mrs. George Willis of Long Beach, in yellow and turquoise net over taffeta. Miss Lucille Morris of San Pedro was maid of honor, wearing peach painted organdy.

The groom was attended by Jesse Scribner, his brother, and ushers were Earl Kent of Santa Ana and another brother, Ernest Scribner.

Appropriate music, both organ and vocal, was rendered by Miss Eleanor Tate and by Stanley Berkeley.

Prominent in the receiving line after the wedding were parents of the young couple, Mr. and Mrs. Strawn, and Mr. and Mrs. M. R. Scribner. Mrs. J. Cecil Strawn, Mrs. Jesse Scribner, Miss Marilyn Scribner, Miss Dolores Dyckman, Miss Mary Belle Cooper, and Miss Ruby Mae Cooper also assisted.

Mr. and Mrs. Scribner will make their home at King City where he is a rancher, after a northern honeymoon.

SPRAGUES VISIT ISLAND OF SANTA CRUZ

Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Sprague of 1920 Victoria Drive have returned from a vacation trip in the north, and related an interesting experience that befell them.

They had always wanted to visit Santa Cruz Island, and, learning that it had been sold and in the future could be visited only by special permission, they made the trip over on a power cruiser with Captain Proctor, a college mate of Herbert Rankin. They had to take their own food and sleep on the boat, but were thus able to explore the historic spot, which was originally a Spanish grant, then sold to a British syndicate, purchased then by a French man, and has just been sold again.

MUSICAL ARTS CLUB

Musical Arts club will elect officers at its meeting next Monday at 12:15 p. m. at the Doris-Kathryn tearoom, and will welcome members of the concert course citizens' committee at their luncheon. The session has been scheduled for Monday instead of Tuesday, the regular day.

Special Diet Will Aid Skin Trouble

By CLAUD N. CHRISMAN, M. D.

Pellagra is a disease which usually appears in the spring. It is sometimes referred to as a skin affection but now it is considered to be an organic disease and the skin lesions are simply an outward manifestation of the inner trouble. The skin symptoms appear in the spring, often before the disease is noticed.

The general symptoms are referred to the gastro-intestinal tract with indigestion and dysentery or colitis symptoms. The skin trouble first appears on the surface exposed to sunlight, such as the back of the hands and wrists, the face, neck and chest.

It looks like sunburn with blisters and redness. The surface becomes weepy, then dries and crusts. The trouble appearing and disappearing finally leaves the skin dry, full of cracks and parchment like.

The appearance of the tongue is important. It becomes swollen and raw, appears to be blazed and dry. The edges and the under side are ulcerated and the tissues bleed freely.

The general abdominal symptoms, gradually become more marked, with dyspepsia and pains in the abdomen which gradually extend to other parts of the body. There is tenderness along the spine and general weakness develops, particularly in the back and legs.

Nervous symptoms appear, such as tremors of the head and arms. There is dizziness, followed by worry, depression, loss of memory and general sluggishness. Some became irritable and excitable, others dull and morose. It is a toxaemia, due either to lack of certain food elements or to the inability to digest and assimilate certain foods. In most cases there is a lack of hydrochloric acid in the stomach.

Treatment consists of a diet of fresh meats, milk, eggs, peas, beans, and fresh vegetables. Sulphur is antagonistic to the seleniums and is very helpful. Maybe Grandmother's sulphur and molasses in spring was good for us.

Russell Wilson, Miss Mary Safley, Miss Eleanor Crookshank, Mrs. Terry Stephenson, jr., Mrs. Bernard Parker, Mrs. James Stephenson, Miss Rosa Boyd, and Mrs. Braden Finch.

D. A. V. WOMEN PLAN PICNIC

D. A. V. auxiliary members are planning an all-day picnic and potluck luncheon at Anaheim park on June 9, and Mrs. John Kemper and Mrs. Ellis Gaddis were named in charge of it at a meeting of the organization last night.

It was announced that Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Thwaite and Mrs. Fannie Reeves had visited San Fernando hospital Memorial day, taking with them many gifts from the chapter, and a trip to Sawtelle will be made June 6.

At the end of the business session the auxiliary and chapter united to hear a musical program presented by the Willard seventh graders by Miss Esther Jean Davis, and by Miss Anna Mae Burks.

Do You Know the Books Every One Talks About?

When the talk turns to great books do you sit in an embarrassed silence? Because you "haven't time to read?"

But you don't have to be a bookworm to join in "book talk." If you know which American novels are really great—and why they are—you can be as interesting as the people whose cultural backgrounds you admire.

You can get the full flavor of "Moby-Dick," the novel of American daring at sea, from a brief digest. You can sense the stark New England drama of "Ethan Frome" from a short outline.

And how thrilling to understand and discuss such a great book as "The Rise of Silas Lapham!" A few high lights tell you how Silas found himself, not when he made his million, but when he lost it.

Our 32-page booklet tells the stories of 10 great American novels, explains their importance. A list of American books, too, to guide you in further reading.

Send 10 cents for your copy of Great American Stories to the Santa Ana Journal, Home Service. Be sure to write plainly your name, address, and the name of booklet.

PATRIOTIC PROGRAM GIVEN AT DELHI

Delhi school children were visited last Friday by a delegation from the local Jack Fisher auxiliary to the Disabled American Veterans, members of which put on an Americanization program for the students.

Fifth and sixth graders had memorized the American Creed for the occasion, and that was recited previous to the singing of "America." Mrs. Leo Payne, Americanization chairman of the group, introduced Mrs. Esther Kemper, who gave a fine talk on "Peace."

A concluding ceremony was the presentation of little individual flags to each child, and of one large flag to the two grade-rooms.

FIFTY-FIFTY CLUB TO DINE AT TOWN HOUSE

Invitations received by members of the Fifty-Fifty club this week revealed the Town House of Los Angeles as setting for the dinner dance planned for Saturday evening, June 12.

The affair will be formal, with dinner at 8 o'clock, and is for members only, it is announced. Messrs. and Mesdames Earl Beebe, Eus McCoy, and Riley Huber are the committee in charge.

LIBRARY CLUB TO MEET THIS EVENING

As an aftermath of the state convention of the California Library association which was held recently in the Yosemite valley, members of the Orange County Library club will hear reports of the meeting when they meet for dinner Thursday evening. Plans include a barbecue dinner in the Anaheim city park to which the trustees of the various libraries have been invited.

Miss Kate Rea of the Anaheim Library Board attended the convention and will be the main speaker of the evening, interpreting the convention from the trustees point of view and disclosing progress made in certain "closed sessions" for trustees only. Miss Dorothy Wentz, County Librarian, will give a resume of one of the "highlights" of the convention program, a talk by Miss Marjorie Quigley, of Montclair, N. J., on "Stylizing Your Library" in which the speaker emphasized the importance of an "attractive and smart" interior in the modern library and gave many practical suggestions.

Other reports will be given by Miss Carrie Sheppard, of the Fullerton Library and Miss Elva Haskett of the Anaheim Library. Miss Mary Bowyer, Children's Librarian of the Santa Ana Public Library will repeat the puppet show which she presented at the convention.

About 50 reservations have been received, special interest being indicated because so many school librarians and others were unable to attend the state meeting.

Santa Ana Library will be represented by the following board members and their wives: Dr. John Ball, Mr. Harry Hanson and Mr. Rex Kennedy; and by a representative group from the library staff. Following the dinner in the park the group will go to the Anaheim Public Library where the program will be presented at about 7:30. Miss Elizabeth Calnon, librarian of the Anaheim Public Library, will be hostess for the evening and Miss Ethel Walker, librarian of the Santa Ana Public Library, has arranged the program. Miss Ethelene Kitching, librarian of the Fullerton High school and Jr. College Library is president of the organization which is made up of the school and public librarians of the county.

Engineering Details Are Told For Carbon Canyon Dam

By KENNETH ADAMS

Who wouldn't spend $2.50 to get benefits worth more than $15?

Almost any reasonable individual would, although some cynical souls might think there was a catch to such an offer. But there's not a catch to the government's offer to Orange county.

"You," said Uncle Sam to Orange county, "vote $2,500,000 in bonds to take care of your share of the water program, and we'll spend $12,748,000."

Which offer seems more than fair. If Orange county votes the water bond issue, as is expected, for its $2,500,000 it will get a $15,248,000 flood control and water conservation program. U. S. army engineers, working for the government, will construct eight flood control works for Orange county, if voters favor the bond issue at the coming election.

Number 3 project on the list of eight projects is the Carbon canyon program, estimated to cost the federal government $1,398,000 and Orange county $151,710.

The Carbon canyon retarding basin, as proposed, to be located about one and one-half miles easterly of Olinda, is intended primarily for protection of the highly developed agricultural land southerly and westerly of Olinda, it is shown in the report submitted to members of the board of supervisors by Flood Control Engineer M. N. Thompson, but which is subject to revision. The storage capacity of 2500 acre feet is limited by topographical conditions.

Spreading Works

Incidental to the primary purpose, it is to be operated in conjunction with proposed spreading works located on the absorptive area of the former channel of the Santa Ana river.

Owing to geological conditions and other features, the site is subject to further study by army engineers, the report says. However, the United States engineering department plan includes preliminary plans and cost estimates of flood control works at the present site.

The retarding basin, controlling 12.7 square miles of drainage area, is formed by the construction of an earth-fill dam, with an impervious core, 126 feet in height, with a crest width of 15 feet and 770 feet in length, at elevation 637. The slopes of the dam are 3 horizontal to 1 vertical on both upstream and downstream faces, with a 20-foot berm at elevation 578 on the downstream face. The upstream face is protected with hand-placed rock paving.

The spillway is of the "Morning Glory" type, located in the left abutment, with crest elevation at 622, and is designed for a maximum discharge of 34,000 cubic feet per second. The required crest diameter is 144 feet, merging into a 25-foot six-inch diameter tunnel having a length of 453 feet and discharges into the stream channel below the dam.

Outlet works consisting of 7.5 foot diameter tunnel, provided with trash racks, two four foot by seven foot six-inch gates and one 24 inch diameter open outlet located at stream bed elevation at the upstream toe of the dam, connect with the spillway through the left abutment. The gates are operated from a control house located at the same elevation as the top of the dam, over a concrete lined operating shaft.

Using the hydrograph of the maximum flood that may occur from the 12.7 square miles of watershed, the maximum flow is reduced to a flow of 1950 cubic feet a second.

Relocate Fuel Line

The construction of this retarding basin will not interfere with the present highway, as constructed, but will require the relocation of a main fuel gas line, which expense must be borne by Orange county.

Concerning the Carbon creek spreading grounds, the report says there is provided a 24 inch diameter open outlet in the control works of the retarding basin that will have a discharge increasing with the depth of water in the retarding basin, from zero to 180 cubic feet per second.

This flow, combined with that originating from the uncontrolled watershed of 12.3 square miles below the retarding basin, will follow the existing channel to an area in one of the former overflow channels of the Santa Ana river. Land will be acquired by the Orange County Flood Control district and the cost of same will be a direct expense of the district.

Water in excess of the storage and absorptive quantities will be carried to the Santa Ana river through the Carbon relief conduit. This conduit will be 7800 lineal feet long, with gunite-lined sides and concrete diaphrams across the bottom at intervals to precent scour.

Flows that cannot be absorbed or transported to the Santa Ana river will be by-passed and will follow the present natural watercourse, eventually reaching coyote creek near Los Alamitos.

Favor Nuisance Tax Extension

WASHINGTON. (AP)—The house ways and means committee approved today a measure to extend for two years nuisance taxes which are expected by the administration to raise about $500,000,000 in the year starting July 1. The vote, along party lines, was reported as 18 to 7.

The nuisance levies apply to a wide variety of products, including gasoline and oils, automobiles and trucks, refrigerators and radios. They also cover amusement admissions, and provide for a three-cent postage rate.

STEEL STRIKE IS DEADLOCKED

By the Associated Press

An impasse in negotiations gripped the seven-state steel strike keeping 72,000 workers in idleness today, while 5000 employes of the Goodyear Tire & Rubber company who started a sit-down in the Akron, Ohio, plant, returned to work as suddenly as they walked out. Terms of the settlement were not announced.

At McKeesport, Pa., 400 workers in the Columbia Radiator company struck, protesting reinstatement of 80 workers on orders of the national labor relations board.

Demands for higher wages and shorter hours brought a walkout of Postal Telegraph company employes at Akron. Company officials closed the office.

Pickets at the strike-bound Republic Steel plants in Ohio predicted a showdown in their "strike or starve" ultimatum as company officials reported food supplies running low.

Doctor Says Jean 'Just Had a Cold'

BEVERLY HILLS. (AP)—Jean Harlow of film fame is resting comfortably and feeling "much better," her physician, Dr. E. C. Fishbaugh, said today.

Dr. Fishbaugh's report of the actress' condition was considerably less than that of Miss Harlow's mother, Mrs. Jean Bello.

"Miss Harlow just had a cold," said Dr. Fishbaugh.

Mrs. Bello, saying that her daughter had passed the crisis in her illness, reported the nature of her ailment as inflammation of the gall bladder.

Hearings Begin On Relief Bill

WASHINGTON. (AP)—Senator Hayden (D., Ariz.) offered an amendment to the relief bill to extend the Public Works administration for two years with $325,000,000 for loans and grants.

Hayden's amendment, introduced as hearings opened on the $1,500,000,000 relief bill, would give Secretary Ickes full control over projects undertaken. It would authorize the Reconstruction Finance corporation to cash the PWA'S revolving fund which Hayden said would provide $325,000,000. The PWA would get no new funds.

Royal Romance, Round By Round

By Louis Robinson
RING SIDE VERSION
Herald's Cry

Amour! It's in the royal arena!
Premiers and prelates in dilemma!
God save the King!

A doubly divorced doughty sister!
The House of Windsor's highest Mister!
God save the King!

Prologue

Contestants for their age are supple
In height and weight a well matched couple.
God save the King.

For she was schooled in Old Virginia
Where fems are taught the wiles to win ya.
God save the King.

Two bouts she's won to calm and harden her.
Poor Ed's just been a sparring partner,
God save the King.

America has surely missed her,
Decades ago their navy kissed her;
God save the King.

This charmer come from o'er the ocean
To throw Old England in commotion,
God save the King.

With grace she met her social chances
'Till on the throne she now advances;
God save the King.

Action

She clamps a heart-holt on our Ruler.
Our bishops pray he yet may fool her.
God save the King.

His church and kin urge Ed to break it:
Our noble Monarch strives to take it:
God save the King.

So round and round, this rapid tussle
Is taxing every Royal muscle,
God save the King!

He's down!! She's won!! So hard he's smitten
She's rocked the Empire of Great Britain!
God save the King!

Squire Baldwin, acting as umpire,
Now rules the King must be matched higher,
God save the King!

King Ed will stand for no dictation
And hands the Ump an abdication.
God save the King.

Reflection

Ed lost the crown for one small woman.
How times have changed since Wise King Solomon.
God save the Kings.

Conclusion, deferred for cause.
Now Wally weds just Duke of Windsor,
Let none sing what his Royal sins were,
All hail the Ex-King, and would-be Queen!

May they find bliss in Love's anointment
And from all future disappointment.
God save the Ex-King, and should-be Queen!

COUNTY-WIDE SCHOOL ELECTION IS SET FOR TOMORROW

BRICK DUST

HERE and THERE with T. N. (Brick) GAINES

If you're driving through Orange these days and have to bring your car to a stop because a fire hose is across the street, don't cuss. It's all for a good cause.

Again the city is planting zinnias in parkways. And they water 'em with fire hoses, which slows down traffic but assures zealous zinnia cultivators of sufficient water to promote proper propogation, or something.

I'll not say anything about I'll be zinnia, because I think I used that last year, but a warning to fire-hose-runner-over-ers might not be amiss. Because there's an art in running over fire hoses, whether you know it or not. You sneak up on the object in low gear, climb up with your front wheels on protective boards, and then sit back and await a loud crash as the tires hit the pavement. Then grit the teeth and do the same thing over again with the rear wheels. S'fun!

* * *

But, if you don't do the job right, Handsome Officer G. W. Coltraine may sneak up on you, which would be bad, because he gives people tickets when they break laws and gets mad when scribes call him names in newspapers. Once I called him some big word and he was mad at me for three days, until someone lent him a dictionary!

* * *

Incidentally, what's happened to Chief of Police George Franzen in Orange? I haven't seen George for some time, but he'll probably pop out from behind a palm tree in the Plaza one of these days and holler "Boo!" at me.

Either that or hand out a traffic ticket!

Speaking of police chiefs, Gus Barnes in Placentia is getting into a bad habit.

Not so long ago he went fishing. When he came back he left a fish on the Gaines doorstep.

He repeated the offense this week, and again a hunk of halibut—or maybe it was a mouthful of marlin—went into the family refrigerator.

I hope he never catches a whale.

* * *

You might remember that Howard Irwin, who suffers from being a Republican, conducted an experiment a week or so ago.

He claims to have seen a sign proclaiming a speed of five miles per hour for crossing the Olive bridge over the Santa Ana river. And he told of anguished squawks of other motorists at being held up behind the Irwin car when he observed that law.

Well, I investigated, personally, yesterday. And discovered that the sign says five miles for vehicles weighing more than 10 tons.

I'm afraid Howard overestimated his weight!

* * *

This business of being a yachtsman!

As proprietor of the Gaines navy, again I'm assailed via the mailing list route. But this time I'm not the target for a paint salesman. Instead, I'm insulted!

Some overenthusiastic soul apparently has the idea that I'm in the market for a boat loan! Of all things, the proprietor of a navy needing a loan. Hah!

Also, this super-salesman offers a service through which I could have my stern repainted or my sails overhauled or my compression boosted at no down payment and so much per month. Ah, me! Us millionaires do have our troubles!

* * *

Incidentally, a suggestion for the best vacation contest, in which this department is offering a prize of three tame salamanders and a half-can of porch paint (slightly dried), has arrived.

Some anonymous writer, in entering the contest for the best vacation suggestions and why, claims the best idea for a vacation is to go to San Clemente.

"I'd like to spend a long time at the Spanish Village, where the foothills meet the sea and they have lots of turkeys," he, or she, says. "Then I'd settle down and eat turkey for breakfast, turkey for dinner and turkey for supper. Also in between-meals."

Interesting itinerary, what? And if that doesn't sound like Former Mayor Henry Fate, I miss my guess. Come on out, Henry, we know yuh!

Million Dollar BACHELOR

by Kathryn Culver

© 1937 by United Feature Syndicate, Inc.

The late Marcus Trent has left a million dollars to his nephew, Rodney Burton, provided he is unmarried when he reaches twenty-five. Otherwise, it goes to a society headed by J. Montrose Pettigrew. Rodney, leading an isolated life, with his friend Jim Matthews, in the mountains near Gunnison, Colorado, where he is studying Indian stone relics, or artifacts, is not to be informed of the terms of the will. Pettigrew hires Sari Saunders to go to Gunnison and maneuver him into marriage before his twenty-fifth birthday, a month away. Trent's lawyer dispatches Judy Collins to Gunnison to thwart this scheme. When Sari becomes engaged to Rodney, Judy resorts to a desperate plan, based on the fact that Rodney is very old-fashioned in his ideas. On a stormy night, she sets out for his lonely mountainside cabin. She intends to get herself into a compromising situation with him and thus force him to ask her to marry him and break his engagement to Sari.

CHAPTER XXVII

RODNEY had worked arduously all evening, trying to copy Felipe's method of fashioning arrowheads. It was a diverting and exciting occupation.

Somehow, though, the completed point was never satisfactory. Felipe made the arrowheads so easily that it seemed absurd to Rodney that he could not achieve the same results. However, he felt he was making progress.

Finally, he rose from his workbench with a sigh. Neither he nor Jim possessed a timepiece of any kind, but he felt sure it was late.

It had been raining heavily for some time, and the wind was whistling around the cabin. He supposed Jim had decided to spend the night in Gunnison rather than brave the storm. Well, he'd better turn in.

He sat down on the edge of his built-in bunk and unlaced his shoes. He undressed slowly, savoring the delightful coziness of being snugly secure within the stout walls of the cabin while a storm raged outside.

In his pajamas, he padded to the door to set the bar in place.

Just as he dropped the bar, as though this were a signal, there came a pounding on the door. Rodney stood stock still, unable to believe his ears. What visitor could be coming to the isolated cabin at this late hour?

Then he remembered Jim. Of course! How stupid of him! He lifted the bar and pulled the door open.

A STARTLED exclamation escaped his lips as Judy, rain-soaked and wind-blown, lurched over the threshold. He retreated hastily to grab up a dressing gown and struggle into it.

Judy, meanwhile, had sunk to the floor just inside the still-open door. A crumpled and pathetic figure she was groaning.

"My ankle," she moaned. "I've twisted it. Help me up."

"Yes, yes, of course," stammered Rodney, blushing violently. "But this is most extraordinary."

He closed the door, then grasped Judy gingerly by the arms and tried to lift her. She was an inert heap. He finally managed to gather her up into his arms, and trotted across to the bunk, where he dropped her hastily, then stepped back.

Judy, with a few more groans, struggled to a sitting position and dragged a blanket about her shivering figure. Rodney was stupefied struck dumb, mortally embarrassed. He dropped into a chair across the room.

He listened, wide-eyed, to her story about going alone for a long long tramp in the mountains, getting caught in the storm, turning an ankle, and dragging her painful way to the cabin in a state of complete exhaustion.

Rodney was sympathetic. He built up a roaring fire in the stove, and heated a pan of water. He set the pan before Judy, then delicately turned his head while she stripped off shoe and stocking and immersed her perfectly healthy foot in the hot water.

THEN, he sat down to consider the situation facing them. It was enough to make him shudder. The storm continued to rage violently outside. It was many miles to help of any sort. Here they were, practically marooned together for the night in this lonely cabin.

Rodney groaned aloud as all the implications of the situation became hideously clear to him.

"What is it?" asked Judy.

Rodney's face was haggard. "Ah—uh—what are you going to do?"

"What am I going to do?" Judy laughed. "I'm not going to stir out of this cabin until the storm's over!"

Rodney stared bleakly at her.

"But—but Jim isn't here," he mumbled, feeling that Jim's presence would, somehow alter matters.

"So much the better," said Judy. "I can use his bunk."

She leaned back and wrapped the blanket more closely about her, watching Rodney with mischievous eyes.

He paled at her acceptance of the situation.

"It isn't—there isn't anything—that is, you won't need me any more, will you?"

"What!" Judy sat upright. "You're not going off and leave me here all alone and unprotected, are you?"

"There's a bar on the door," he pointed out stiffly. "I'm sure you will be perfectly safe."

"You wouldn't desert me, would you? How utterly heartless!"

Rodney wet his lips and refused to meet her gaze.

"I—we can't both stay here."

"Why not?"

"It's unthinkable!" he told her stoutly.

"You'll have to stay!" Judy wailed. "I'd never forgive myself if I drove you out on a night like this! If anyone is to go, it will be me!"

She stood up bravely, suppressing a little cry of pain as her supposedly injured foot touched the floor.

"No! No!" Rodney cried.

He was in a frightful dilemma. What should he do?

In this moment of frantic indecision, another knock sounded loudly on the door. Rodney and Judy stared at each other — he aghast, she bewildered.

LAGUNA 'GIRLS' TO DANCE

Gay '90s to Draw Merchants

LAGUNA BEACH.—"The Gay Nineties," American Legion musical to be presented in the high school auditorium June 15 and 16, will have an all-male cast—even as to the flower girls who deck the stage in rose-buds.

Business and professional men will put on petticoats and old lace—and maybe lavender—for the two performances. The boys will dance the square dance and other little old-fashioned pleasantries. There'll be many of the town's pillars taking part in the fun, with 30 "girls" strewing the rose-buds in a wedding scene.

Although casting for the feminine impersonations is now well under way, the names of the stalwart lassies who are to prance about so becomingly has not been revealed. Later developments, however, are sure to bring out the facts in the affair.

GALLERY SHOW OPENS TODAY

LAGUNA BEACH.—The June-July show of the Art Gallery is ready today, with a large list of entries, for the test of public approval.

Since Virginia Wooley announced last week that the policy of the exhibitions was to be changed so that the public, by popular vote, chose the winning canvases, water colors, and drawings, interest in the exhibit has been very keen.

Tabulating votes received from gallery visitors will be Curator Mrs. Millicent Pitts. The customary jury committee which decides the prize winners is now supplanted by the public vote.

A special two-man exhibit is now in the lower gallery. Ivan Bartlett and Jean Swigget, Long Beach artists, are showing illustrated maps which follow the wanderings of historic world-travelers, block prints and water colors. Geographical and geologic subjects are featured in their work.

KIWANIS HEARS CITRUS TALK

Herbert S. Bailey, manager of the Exchange Orange Products company of Ontario, spoke to about 200 Kiwanians at their luncheon meeting yesterday, talking on citrus by-products.

By-products are made from what is usually waste in an industry, Bailey said, but these wastes may often be profitably utilized by economic production.

Many farmers now depend on the sale of some of their crops for by-product manufacturing, he said. In this way they use up what would otherwise be an unsalable surplus. Bailey said that if all by-products were to be lost to industry, the money the farmer would get from the sale of his crops would drop more than 50 per cent.

Going into the citrus industry Bailey said that citric acid is now made from the oils of the rinds of citrus fruits. It is also made from pineapple.

Bailey said citrus ranchers in this district can increase the value of their crops by intelligent sale of culls for by-product manufacture.

Sen. Harry Westover, who has just returned from Sacramento, will be the speaker next week.

MOVIE PARTY ATTACK IS PROBED

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—The district attorney's office disclosed today it is investigating the complaint of a motion picture extra girl that she was assigned by a studio to entertain at a party for visiting sales executives, and was criminally attacked.

Eugene Williams, deputy district attorney, said he would ask the studio to turn over to him the salesman suspected of the attack.

"The complainant in the case contends that she, along with 125 other extra girls, was given a routine call for work by the studio," said Williams.

Taken to Ranch

"The complainant declares that when the girls, all dressed in cowgirl costumes, reported at the studio they were transported to a ranch.

"At the ranch, the girl says, a miners' camp resembling frontier days of '49 in California had been built. The camp included a barroom, dance hall and a huge dining room where most of the activities of the reputed party were centered.

"The girl asserts that a bottle of whisky and two bottle of champagne were on each of the many small tables in the dining hall. She said that she and the other girls thought they were to act in a 'mob scene' for the cameras, but soon discovered they were to be merely entertainers for the visiting sales executives."

Attacked in Car

Williams said the girl complained one of the men persuaded her to take a sip of whisky, after which she left the room and went outside to an automobile. The man followed her, she said, and attacked her.

Williams did not disclose the girl's name, nor that of the suspect, nor what studio was involved.

Williams said the girl did not know the identity of the man she has accused.

"She thought he was from the East," said Williams, "but our investigation disclosed that the man in question is employed locally."

BUGGY WHIPS

DURANT, Okla. (American wire)—Don't try to tell Ben Pinson that the automobile has completely replaced the horse and buggy.

For old times' sake, the grocer ordered a stock of buggy whips. To his amazement he sold two dozen in two days. Many customers bought them for fishing poles.

Theft of eight bundles of shingles last night from the V. W. Hess ranch near Garden Grove was being investigated today by Deputy Sheriff James Workman.

SEA WALL ON ISLAND IS FINISHED

NEWPORT-BALBOA.—Dozens of workmen were casting satisfied glances at the new $200,000 Balboa Island sea wall here today, as final construction steps were taken in the huge wall and promenade which surrounds the island.

A few days in cleaning up is all that is necessary to bring the huge job to an end, City Engineer R. L. Patterson said today. Island residents are planning a huge celebration marking finish of the job on June 19.

In addition to the sea wall, which was constructed with huge concrete slabs cast near the Coast highway, and the wide promenade, an ornamental lighting system tops the wall and a number of public piers were installed as part of the project.

Piers were placed at the end of Park avenue on East Bay Front; at Coral and Opal streets on South Bay Front and at Sapphire and Emerald streets on North Bay Front, Patterson said today.

$330,000 BAY PROJECT IS NEAR END

NEWPORT-BALBOA. — This community's huge $330,000 sewer system project will be 70 per cent completed this evening, City Engineer R. L. Patterson announced after a survey of all parts of the big job today.

Completion of all lines by July 1 was estimated by the engineer, who said that everything should be ready for use in the system by that date. Work on the new disposal plant, which will be located along the Santa Ana river about one-fourth mile above the Coast highway, should be done about Aug. 1, he added.

The new system called for installation of several miles of pipe covering the Corona Del Mar, Newport Heights, Newport and Balboa districts, with mains reaching from all points to the central disposal station, which will hook into the outfall sewer near its discharge point at the Santa Ana river jetties.

New York Stocks

NEW YORK. (AP)—Late but feeble rallying tendencies appeared in today's stock market, with selected motors, rails, rubbers, aircrafts and specialties favored.

The recovery pace dragged notably, and few issues were able to show gains of more than a point in the final hour. There was a wide assortment of small losers, and many of the leaders were virtually unchanged.

Dealings were not much ahead of yesterday's snail-like session, which was the most apathetic in two years. Prices follow:

SONG TOWN . . .

Chosen to procure an incorporation charter for the little town of Sunnyside, Maine, in 1873, Reverand Seth Noble went to Boston. His fellow townsmen had decided to incorporate their community under the name, Sunbury, but the minister had the papers made out under the name Bangor, which was the title of his favorite church tune.

Reverand Noble later claimed that the name had been changed through a mistake on his part, stating that he was whistling "Bangor" when the clerk who was taking care of the documents asked, "May I inquire the name?" Assertedly believing the clerk wanted the name of the tune he was whistling, Noble replied, "Bangor."

SCIENCE NEWS

Two Austian scientists have developed a movie camera so small and compact that it can be pushed into the larynx. It will be used in diagnosing throat diseases and in the physiology of the production of vowel sounds it will aid materially. Not long ago a camera, carrying its own tiny light bulb, was developed for taking pictures inside the stomach. It is swallowed by the patient, the picture taken, and it is pulled up. Just like that!

Uncle Lum Stump, who is one smart boy, has it all figured out how to play safe this year. He's going to go wearing a shroud.

Electricity Warms Reptiles' Feet

CHICAGO. (American Wire.)—The alligators, turtles and other reptiles in Brookfield zoo have cold feet no longer. Zoo Director Edward Bean noticed the reptiles were sluggish in cold weather even though the building they were in was heated to a comfortable temperature. He noticed they avoided the cold sand.

Six hundred feet of electric soil-heating cable were buried in the ground. As soon as the sand was heated, the reptiles perked up.

Pop-Overs Undergo Drastic Change In Manner of Making and Baking

In the past we have often felt that pop-overs could only be made by good cooks, that they required a very hot oven and that the pans that they were baked in had to be piping hot. But all that is changed now, due to the efficiency of modern equipment. The new ovens heat so quickly and well that it is now possible to start many foods in a cold oven—even pop-overs.

Pop-Overs

Ingredients required: 2 eggs, 1 cup bread flour, 1 cup milk, 1 teaspoon melted butter, ¼ teaspoon salt. Sift the flour and salt together, beat the eggs well and combine with milk and melted butter. Add the liquid mixture to the flour, stirring well to make a smooth batter. Fill cold, well greased custard cups about half full of batter. Place cups on cookie sheet. Bake in either a cold or pre-heated oven at 425 degrees for one hour and 15 minutes.

Old-Fashioned Sugar Cookies
(2½ dozen)

Two and three-quarter cups sifted cake flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder, ½ teaspoon salt, ½ cup butter or other shortening, 1 cup sugar, 2 eggs, 1 teaspoon vanilla.

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder and salt, and sift again. Cream butter, add sugar gradually, creaming together until light and fluffy. Add well beaten eggs. Add vanilla. Add flour, a small amount at a time, mixing well after each addition. Chill until firm enough to roll. Roll about ⅛-inch thick on slightly floured board. Cut with floured cookie cutter. Sprinkle with sugar. Bake on ungreased baking sheets in hot oven (400 degrees F.) for 10 to 12 minutes.

Pork Chop Suey
(8 Servings)

Two cups shredded cooked lean pork, 2 cups shredded onion, 2 cups shredded celery, 2 cups meat broth, 2 cups sliced raw Jerusalem artichokes or radishes, 1 green pepper, shredded, 4 tablespoons soy sauce (you can buy this at almost any good grocery), 2 tablespoons fat, 1 tablespoon cold water, 1 teaspoon cornstarch, salt if needed.

Use heavy iron frying pan. Heat half the fat. Add shredded pork and brown. Remove. Place other half of fat in pan and turn in pepper and onion and cook 3 minutes. Add celery, pork, broth. Cover and simmer 5 minutes. Mix cornstarch and water until smooth, then stir into mixture and cook another few minutes. Add artichokes or radishes. Add soy sauce. Season with salt if needed, though that is not very Chinese. Soy sauce should be the only seasoning. Serve with a great mound of dry flaky rice. Never, by any means, serve wet, mushy rice. That would start a tong war.

* * *

Pinwheel Salad
(6 servings)

Twenty-four perfect lettuce cups, 1½ cups each of chopped raw peas, shredded raw carrots, chopped raw cauliflower and chopped raw spinach, 1 cup sliced raw strawberries, ½ cup chopped nuts and 1 package cream cheese.

In center of each salad plate, make a small low ring of mixed cheese and chopped nuts worked smooth with a little cream. In the center of this ring place the colorful sliced strawberries. Arrange the four lettuce cups at equal intervals about the ring. In separate cups place peas, spinach, carrots and cauliflower. Serve with a bowl of lightly seasoned French dressing made with lemon juice and oil.

Combining fruits and vegetables into hot weather salad is a wise and cooling thought.

No Rush About Parking Meters

WITH so much outspoken opposition from citizens, merchants and neighbors against the efforts of parking meter salesmen to sell the city a $25,000 bill of goods and rent out the streets—it would be a good idea, we think, for city council to take things slow and easy.

No need of rushing into parking meters—which penalize the legitimate shopper and visitor—without even giving cheaper and more logical proposals a trial.

Everyone knows that the parking congestion is not the fault of the ordinary shopper. He drives to town, spends his money in an hour or so, and is off again.

The fault lies with the parking hog, who so often works downtown, and the failure of the police to control him.

There are a few hundred of these parking pigs who are spoiling things for everybody else.

Would it be fair to soak all the legitimate shoppers and visitors $25,000 for the parking meters and a nickle an hour each thereafter until eternity just because the city hasn't really made a serious effort to handle the parking loafers who are gumming up the streets?

We are inclined to think that some decisive action and leadership on the part of the council or chamber of commerce toward the establishment of big downtown parking lots for people who bring their cars to work for the day would go a long way toward clearing up the trouble.

It would be less expensive for the taxpayer and there would be no danger of scaring a lot of people away from this agricultural trade center to some other town where meters were not in operation.

Let's exhaust all other logical means of plowing under the parking hog before we try the costly and dubious experiment of parking meters.

Next to pushing yourself away from the table three times a day, the best reducing exercise is to shake your head from side to side when offered another helping.

Headlines For 10 Days

THE PAST week has been fairly exciting in a news way, but not more than many in the past. Yet consider just a few of the top heads that have gone screaming into the streets and homes from the newspapers of America.

John D. Rockefeller dies at 98.
Col. Lindbergh has a third son.
The supreme court upholds social security act.
Russia seizes North pole for air base.
The C. I. O. organizers storm Henry Ford.
A. F. of L. declares war on C. I. O.
Loyalists bomb Nazi warship Deutschland.
Nazi fleet shells Almeria.
Germany and Italy withdraw from Spanish neutral-
Bribery charged in state legislature.

Practically all of these stories demand all the intelligence and speed that a newspaper can bring to them. But they are all on Page One within 10 days.

And it's a newspaper's job to gear this mad rush of events down to the printed page so that everyone of its readers can get a glimpse of the panorama!

No matter who wins the Spanish war, Hitler is getting the publicity.

Bribery Scandal at Sacramento

CALIFORNIANS can be thankful that the Sacramento grand jury is going to the bottom of the charge that members of the assembly have taken bribes in connection with the oil bills.

There has been more talk of corruption at this session of the legislature than at any other in a long time. Now the facts will be brought into the open.

If there has been bribery in the case of Assemblyman Flint or any other, it should be exposed and punished with a promptness and relentlessness that will end this sort of thing before it has a chance to get more firmly entrenched.

As protection for the public, Governor Merriam should withhold his signature from every bill which has been tainted by even a suspicion of bribery until the truth can be learned.

Teachers Get A Needed Pay Boost

AT THE START of the week, we published a report from the California Taxpayers association showing that salaries of teachers in the Santa Ana high school and junior college district are the lowest per pupil in the state.

Yesterday we carried the announcement of the board of education that teachers' pay here was being increased on an average of 3.5 per cent.

The last announcement especially makes us happy. Good teachers will remain only where they are adequately paid. And a good teacher is the best investment that a community can make for its children.

Soviet airmen say the water is two and one-half miles deep at the North Pole. Yes, and twice as cold.

WHIMSIES

DAY BY DAY

With O. O. McINTYRE

The illustrator, E. Simms Campbell, is the only negro to achieve recognition in top ranking magazines. Such as Cosmopolitan, Esquire and the rest. His flair is for the pretty debutante against the drawing-room background. He uses models of his own race for white delineations.

A very serious-minded young man, he occupies a studio and home in The Dunbar, an apartment house built for his race in Harlem. His wife is his constant companion, and often poses for him. Much of his ability to paint and draw comes naturally, although he has studied prodigiously.

Just now he is anxious to lay aside enough to study awhile in Paris and Florence. His first commercialized efforts were drawings he sent out by mail, as he feared his color might be a hinderance. But he found no such attitude exists among art editors.

He is now receiving the same pay for his work as ranking artists. Many colored folk have shown a talent for the drawing board that was never marketed. Bert Williams was a deft caricaturist, and the late Florence Mills did some creditable water colors.

Culinary scoop: I have the recipe for the pie dough that has made the crust of Mrs. Frank Menke's pies the admiration of every celebrity who has put his feet under the Menke table. Tad used to drool just talking about it, and Babe Ruth would often invite himself to share in the gustatory joy. Anyway, here's the secret: Before mixing water with the pie dough, add 1 tablespoon of olive oil to water. Then stir into dough in usual way. One tablespoon of oil is sufficient for pie for four people. Increase to ratio.

No one ever rose more spectacularly in Wall Street than Jesse L. Livermore in the skyrocketing days when he was known as "the fair haired boy of the markets," and from which dizzy whirl he plucked fabulous fortunes. He was a head-turner in the cafes and at big sporting events. One of the outstanding celebrities. Then came his reverses, losing a fortune today and regaining it tomorrow until the final crack-up. Then he dropped out of sight. But he's in circulation again. Now and then he is seen on the avenue going to a building where he maintains offices. He sends out for his lunches, and is no longer on view at first nights or other spots where he was so long a personage.

Bill Robinson, the deservedly popular Bojangles of Harlem, can neither read nor write. When he appears as a guest star on the radio the studio warns script writers not to change his dialogue or cues because he has already memorized them from the script reading. He has an uncanny memory, and after lines are read to him twice he never forgets. While he is not sensitive to friends knowing of the educational lack for which he was not to blame, he doesn't care to have the studio audiences know, and always appears before the microphone with script in hand. His mentor is Jesse Owens, the sprinter, whom he admires greatly because of his college education. Owens reads and rehearses the stuff with him.

I lived at an uptown hotel where Shoeless Joe Jackson of the Chicago ball team put up when in New York. He could not read nor write, but had been taught a scrawl that could be deciphered as his signature for registering. In the dining-room he ate with a fellow player who knew of his deficiency, but Jackson always studied the menu carefully as his friend wrote out their orders. In the evenings he would sit in a conspicuous place in the lobby as though earnestly reading an opened magazine.

Speaking of illiteracy, Kin Hubbard's pet story concerned the illiterate in an Ohio town who ran a drug store speakeasy. One of those places with a window full of empty corn salve boxes and nothing behind the prescription case save a barrel of whisky. Every morning the proprietor would sit out front as the town went to work, professing to read the Cincinnati Enquirer. One morning as he held the paper upside down upon which was the picture of a battleship just launched, a passerby called: "What's the news today, Uncle Billy?" It was during the Spanish-American war and, holding up the upside down newspaper, he replied: "Those Spanish scoundrels have sunk another battleship!"

The Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON. — If the President has been wondering why nothing has been done about his ambitious government reorganization bill, he can get a pretty good idea of the reason from what happened behind the closed doors of the last joint senate and house committee meeting.

This group, named specially to consider the measure, dawdled around for more than three months doing nothing. Finally, under White House prodding, it met to decide on some course of action. An agreement was reached —to disagree.

The house members insisted that the President's plan be chopped up into four separate bills and submitted to the chambers in that form. They contended this would expedite consideration. The senators opposed this, demanding that the legislation be concentrated in one measure as proposed by the President.

"Splitting this up into four bills," remarked Senate Leader Joe Robinson, head of the senate committee, "will only further delay action. Of course, it probably doesn't matter, for I doubt if any reorganization legislation will get through this session. And that won't be a public calamity."

With these spirited words spurring them on, the two committees decided to part company and each go its own way.

LION AND LAMB

Strange things are happening in the strife-ridden power industry.

In widely separated sections of the country, private and public power interests are peacefully getting together in mutually acceptable deals—a development almost as miraculous as the parable of the lion and the lamb. These are the transactions:

In Nebraska, negotiations have been completed under which three federally financed state power projects will take over virtually all the private utilities in the state, at a cost of between $75,000,000 and $100,000,000.

In Ponce, Puerto Rico, second largest city on the island, the municipal plant has bought out the competing private company.

And in Seattle, Wash., the municipal power and light plant, managed by SEC Commissioner J. D. Ross and one of the most successful of its kind, has acquired its private rival at a cost of $37,000,000.

These absorptions are history-making, but even more astounding is the fact that the Nebraska and Seattle purchases are being financed by Wall Street. The citadel of big business is lending the governments of Nebraska and Seattle the money to buy out private utility interests.

Government power executives are not acclaiming these events as the millenium, but they do regard them as significant straws in the wind of future power development.

UNCLE JOE CANNON

Ex-Gov. Robert P. Bass of New Hampshire is the only survivor of seven governors who, in 1912, wrote a letter urging Theodore Roosevelt to run for the nomination against Taft.

Visiting Washington the other day to survey his chances of running for the senate, Bass told this story on Uncle Joe Cannon, one of the most famous speakers in the history of congress.

Bass, then a member of congress, went to Speaker Cannon to get his support for a conservation bill.

"I'm sorry you asked me that," replied Uncle Joe, "because you're a fine-looking young fellow and I hate to disappoint you.

"But you see, we have a rules committee here and they won't let the bill out. That committee has three members. I'm one and Bill over there is another."

Uncle Joe spit tobacco juice and called across the room to his sleepy-eyed colleague:

"Hey Bill, what do you think of this conservation bill I'm agin it."

Bill replied that he was "agin" it too, and Cannon turned to Bass.

"There you are. That's a majority. I sure wish I could help you, but you see how my hands are tied."

SERIOUS LOSS

The little noticed resignation of Vice Chairman Irvin Stewart of the federal communications commission is a serious loss to the administration and the FCC. He was one of the few really able men on the body.

Stewart's public reason for quitting was his desire to take a better paying business job. But his real reason was his disgust at the way the FCC is being run.

In no other agency is there so much wrangling, vacillation, incompetence and wire-pulling. After trying for three years to do something about it and getting nowhere, Stewart, with his term expiring, decided to depart. So he took steps to make sure he wasn't stopped.

He informed White House intimates that he was resigning and asked them to inform the President. Stewart was told that the President wanted to give him a new six-year term. He sent back word that he didn't want it.

Weeks went by and Stewart heard nothing more. Fearing that his reappointment would be announced and thus put him in the embarrassing position of having to turn down the President, he went to White House Secretary Marvin McIntyre, gave him a letter of resignation and asked him to make it public.

McIntyre promised to lay the matter before the President. Whether he did or not, Stewart never learned. He waited three days, and having received no word from the White House, released his letter of resignation.

One Man's Opinion

HIGHWAY MEN

Some day, maybe, I'll put the old bean to work and devise a set of signals by which hitch-hikers and auto drivers may communicate with each other.

This may seem like a rather sudden change of heart on the part of a hard-hearted coot who has been more than rough on the genus hitch-hike in times past.

The fact is that my conscience burns a little when I sail past some of the lads on the highways, with never a sign that I've seen a human being standing there.

Before now I've stated in this column that I myself would walk a thousand miles before I'd ask a lift from a stranger. (And then I confessed "bumming" a ride from a good Samaritan during a taxicab strike down in Huston.)

No one has a right to boldly condemn the practice of hitch-hiking unless he himself has hiked (not hitched) at least 500 miles. I qualify there with a 650-mile stroll many years ago through California's deserts and mountains.

The thing that stirs my conscience is having to glare stonily at some human being who may actually need a lift along the highway, and ride past him with no more attention paid than if he were a bit of sagebrush.

The way it is now there are only two courses open: You either ride past and leave the hiker flirting his thumb, or you stop and pick him up.

If you try to say words of apology or explanation to him, hoping he's a lip-reader, he's bound to think you're cussing him out for being alive.

And if you try a nice friendly smile to show him that although you won't give him a lift you're not necessarily agin him, he thinks you are grinning at his discomfiture.

So what about a set of finger signals which would mean (1) child asleep on back seat. (2) Lady in car and you look a little too tough. (3) Sorry but I'm only going as far as the next intersection. (4) And so on far into the night.

The hitch-hiker would merely put you down as a liar or a sap or both. So what's the use?

A novel invalid stretcher, with a gas-mask hood, has been developed in England. Used primarily to protect ill or injured persons who are being transported during a wartime gas attack, an air-tight canvas hood, fitted with celluloid windows, is fitted over the patient's head by a tubular bar and connected to oxygen-filled cylinders attacked to the stretcher supports.

MERRIAM ON ECONOMY

To the Editor: Rumor has it that Governor Merriam hopes to be re-elected on a record of economy ("He got us out of the red," to paraphrase a famous slogan)

Now his predecessor, Governor Rolph, spent the state's money very much like an intoxicated seafarer, what with fat jobs for his friends in a time of leanness for the ordinary businessman and worker, Roman bathtubs, luxurious airplanes for jitney service, and in bestowing crowns on buxom beauties at bucolic fairs. But at least he was a picturesquely dressed window for California, and often made the front page, carnation and all. And it should be remembered that all he had to squander was the surplus left by a retiring executive who was more interested in building up his state than a political machine—that and a new device, the Hearst-inspired sales tax, then just planted and understood by the voters to be a temporary measure for "the endurance of the depression."

But Merriam's economy — it is to laugh! Instead of an experiment estimated to yield a few thousand dollars a year and stave off a state income tax, the infamous sales tax is now expected to yield "something like 220 million dollars during the next biennium"—and an income tax has been added to the sources of state income, despite Hearst's frantic efforts and threats to "abdicate" as a Californian and transplant his San Simeon principality to some other part of the world.

Well, even an ordinary man, if his wages were raised 100 per cent, could save a few pennies. So, God speed you, Merry Merriam—and what you may save on paper before election will buy oil for the machine in years to come.

It is the business of every citizen to help keep Santa Ana streets clean. Not that you are obligated to get a broom and sweep the pavements, but you are obligated not to throw waste paper and rubbish out of car windows or sweep refuse into the streets. To that extent every citizen can assist the street departments by placing rubbish in cartons. Santa Ana has a fine reputation as being a clean city. Tourists are quick to notice it and comment upon the cleanliness of the city, and tourists are potential future citizens.

The lost sheep was found yesterday noon by that group of boys who gather periodically in the Tustin neighborhood for a noon lunch. Every time I've been there they get their meal out of the ground, whether it's potatoes or meat. Seems like they know just where to start digging. Not once have they failed to extract from mother earth — maybe father's, too, so far as I know—the meat for the occasion. Dan Adams is as handy with a knife as he is with an automobile. He always gets his "man," all same as Canadian Mounted Police. It's an agreeable group of Tustin boys plus a few guests who gather around the festive board just to forget frost and taxes.

The Seal Beach boys who attended the Tustin five B's party included the mayor and a councilman and an engineer—civil—well, all of them were civil so far as that is concerned. And they were friendly and genuine. Met another participant who concluded that because I wore a cap I must be the same fellow under it whose picture appears in the paper. That was his method of identification. I had to admit the correctness of his conclusion. Wonder what would happen if I went bareheaded? Oh, yes, I know. Some wise guy would suggest a permanent wave, and I have it now.
